LUZON DELUGED!

For Two Days There Have Been Both Rain and Storms.

SOLDIERS SUFFERING DISCOMFORT

Three Feet of Water Underneath Their Bunks and Company Cooks Stand Knee Deep in Water When Preparing Meals.

ONE REGIMENT IN BAD PLIGHT

MANILA, July 10.—It has been raining and storming almost continually for two days and the country along the American south and bay lines is literally flooded. The soldiers are suffering great discomfort. The Thirteenth infantry regiment at Pasay is in the worst position, being practically surrounded by water. The bridges that were used for getting supplies have been washed away and some of the companies are now separated by streams six feet deep. In many cases the men are sleeping with three feet of water beneath their bunks which are elevated on cracker boxes. The company cooks, when preparing the meals, stand knee deep in water.

Some of the roads leading to Pasay are simply impassable and the rice fields on all sides are one great lake. A high wind blew over several tents of the second reserve hospital. Manila bay is impossible of navigation by either launches or canoes, and no vessels are leaving the harbor.

The United States transport Centennial is ready to sail for San Francisco with discharged soldiers, but the latter have to sit around the water front all day, drenched to the skin, waiting for a launch to take them to the steamer.

The river Pasig and all the other streams are swollen and the city streets at low points are covered with water.

MANILA, July 6—via HONG KONG, July 10.—Friendly Filipinos in Manila have been the medium of communications between the American authorities and the military leaders of the insurrection in Cavite province which for some time promised to result in bringing over a prominent general and several hundred of his followers with their arms. If the negotiations had succeeded the outcome would have had a great moral effect, for other defections doubtless would have followed. Were the general's name given it might lead in his case to a fate similar to that which has befallen other Filipinos suspected of friendliness toward the Americans. He had foreseen the failure of the insurrection and advised Aguinaldo to make terms, but it is understood that he has sent word to the Americans that, having sworn to support the insurrection, he must remain loyal to the end.

Similar negotiations are said on good authority to have been conducted with a member of the cabinet of the so-called Filipino government, who himself took the initiative. Some form of money consideration figured in the discussions with his friends.

Small Pox at Flemington.

The Lock Haven Democrat of Saturday says:

There is considerable excitement at Flemington over a varioloid case. As the story goes, E. A. Smith of that place had been in the Irvona pest house, where small pox patients are kept. Smith broke out of the pest house, walked to the station below Irvona, jumped a Beech Creek train, and it is reported arrived in this city Tuesday afternoon. The authorities of Flemington were notified of Smith's escape by the authorities of Irvona and the former at once placed the house occupied by Smith and his family under quarantine.

Health Officer McGhee was informed this morning that Smith had stopped in this city. He started an investigation and learned that Smith had been in a clothing store and had purchased clothing and that he had also slept in a hotel over night. Both proprietors were ordered to give their places a thorough fumigation. It is also stated that Smith was shaved in one of our barber shops. All necessary precautions will be taken to prevent the diseaes from spreading.

Father and Daughter Reunited.

A special from Dayton, Ohio, says that an old veteran named John Eisenle, who came from Germany, and fought in the civil war, has been an inmate of the soldiers home in that place for many years. His daughter, Mrs. Annie M. Miller, who came from Germany about ten years after her father, and who after not being able to gain any tidings of him, mourned him as dead, married and settled in Williamsport. Recently she heard of her father being in the home, and at once proceeded to that city where they were reunited after many years separation.

Kissing Bug Causes Death.

TRENTON, N. J., July 10.—Helen, the 2-year-old daughter of Frank Leech, died Saturday night and the attending physician, Dr. Griffith, is satisfied that death was produced by a bite from a kissing bug.

About a week ago the child went crying to its mother and said it was hurt. There was a red spot on the child's leg. The mother assuming that it was a mosquito bite, used witch hazel but without effect.

The child's leg began to swell and Dr. Griffith was called in. The child was treated for blood poisoning and the pain was somewhat subdued but the swelling continued and then extended to the other leg. The arms also began to swell and these members turned black. Dr. Griffith called in assistance but efforts to relieve the child proved unavailing and the little one died as stated.

Gold Standard in India.

London, July 10.—The report of the Parliamentary Committee on Indian Currency, just issued in the form of a Blue Book, approves the decision of the Government not to revert to a silver standard. It argues that it would be impossible to maintain the status quo permanently, and, therefore, recommends that measures be taken to introduce a gold standard, with the British sovereign as legal tender, and advises that the Indian Mints be allowed to coin gold without restrictions on the same terms as the Australian Mints.

Finally, by a majority of votes, the committee recommends fixing the rupee rate at 16 pence.

The report says in conclusion: "The effective establishment of a gold standard is of paramount importance to the material interests of India, not only to promote existing trade, but to encourage the influx of capital."

The Old Quaker Meeting House.

The quaint old Quaker Meeting House adjacent to the Bellefonte Academy so familiar to all citizens of Bellefonte is undergoing extensive repairs. The meeting House was erected in 1836 and its interior arrangements were fashioned after the simple and unostentatious habits and customs of the Society of Friends. Alterations and needed repairs have been made from time to time to the exterior and interior of the building but without regard for the retention of its primitive condition. Now the Quaker society of our community are engaged in a work of restoration. After the completion of the alterations in progress the old Meeting House will present the same quaint appearance it possessed some sixty years ago. All recent innovations will be displaced and originality will characterize the labor of reconstruction.

Children Don't Jump on Wagons.

At Williamsport Friday evening two little girls named Wenzel and Miller, who reside on Hepburn street, jumped on a wagon. In their effort to get off the Miller child had her foot caught in the wheel and she was thrown to the ground. The Bulletin says that both her ankles were run over and though no bones were broken, the ligaments were badly torn and bruised. The Wenzel girl jumped off and endeavored to release her companion, but also was caught in the wheel and thrown. Before the driver could stop the horses the wheels had passed over the little girl's head. The hair and scalp was torn off in several places and she was badly bruised about the face. She was picked up and carried into the freight station and later both girls were removed to their respective homes in hacks.

Too Much Electricity.

"I didn't feel the shock, but I enjoyed a beautiful dream," remarked Fred Busseler as he regained consciousness after being shocked with 1,600 volts of electricity by coming in contact with a charged switchboard at the power house of the Edison Electric company at Williamsport Friday night. As he grasped the charged switchboard Busseler was hurled prostrate to the floor and rendered insensible for about an hour. He was resuscitated by his fellow workmen, who worked his arms up and down in an effort to restore respiration. He is a son of Councilman R. H. Busseler, of that city.

Admiral Cervera Acquitted.

The result of the Spanish court-martial in the acquital of Admiral Cevera and the officers of the fleet destroyed in Santiago Bay by Uncle Sam's North Atlantic Squadron of iron clads will be received with real pleasure and satisfaction by the American people. Admiral Cevera's gentlemanly deportment and kindly disposition so obviously manifested during his brief sojourn as the guest of the Nation, struck a popular cord in the hearts of our people and the favorable termination of his court-martial is sure to please his American admirers.

IN A DENSE FOG.

PASSENGERS AND CREW SAVED

To the Number of 115 They Were Landed on Flinn's Island by the Vessel's Boats—Many of Them Were Tourists.

THE SEA WAS NOT RUNNING HIGH

HALIFAX, N. S., July 11.—The steamer Portia, from New York, for Halifax, was wrecked during a dense fog early Monday evening on Flinn's Island, off Sambro, a point about fifteen miles to the eastward of Halifax. The passengers and crew, 115 all told, landed on the island in the ship's boats and all are comfortably housed there. No loss of life is reported. As soon as the people had all been safely landed, Captain Farrell started for the mainland with a boat's crew and reached Sambro late Monday night, whence he sent the news of the disaster to Halifax by telephone.

Fortunately the weather was moderate and the sea running was not high, else the landing of those on board the steamer could not have been accomplished without great danger and perhaps loss of life. The steamer is already full of water and a total wreck.

The disaster occured shortly before 7 p. m. The passengers, of whom there are seventy-five, are nearly all tourists. The steamer had a large cargo for this port and St. Pauls, N. J. The place where she struck is known as Big Fish shoal, and is one and a half miles west of the light on Sambro island.

Set Fire to His wife.

A fiendish attempt at wife murder was made by Isaac Borrell, a baker of Blossburg. According to the story of Mrs. Borrell, her husband deliberately set fire to her clothing with lighted paper, and then held her hands while he watched the flames enveloping her. The shrieks of the suffering woman attracted the neighbors, and she was taken away from the man and the flames extinguished. Her body was badly burned and her recovery seems improbable. Her husband was arrested and lodged in jail at Wellsboro. They are each about sixty years old and have a large family. The husband's attention to another woman cased the trouble between them.

There Was no Difference.

Watsontown Record and Star: In Berwick, while a woman's card club was engaged in playing for a two dollar prize, the young sons of the women were arrested in a hay mow, while playing cards for fifty cents a prize. The mother cried and said: "What a terrible place this town is to raise boys, anyhow." It served the boys right, however. They might have known the difference between a parlor and a hay mow and between two dollars and fifty cents as a prize.

—The DuBois Evening Express, has adorned its first page with a new heading, which improves its appearance.

—All of the idle coke ovens in the country have resumed operation and all that have been working half time were put on full time.

—Stephen A. Gardner, general superintendent of the marine district of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, died Sunday of apoplexy.

—At two o'clock Sunday morning fire was discovered in the store of W. W. Vaughn at Johnstown, Pa., completely destroying his stock of shoes. Loss $2800 which was fully covered by insurance.

—Delos Dolliver and John Nagle, of Ridgway, have secured a contract for cutting 100,000,000 feet of timber near Pinola, N. C. They may possibly secure additional contracts, which will last ten years.

—The Altoona and Philipsburg railroad has been absorbed by the Pittsburg, Johnstown, Ebensburg and Eastern. The unfinished portions of the absorbed roads are to be finished at once, thus opening a new line from Philipsburg to Altoona and Johnstown.

—The Philipsburg steam laundry owned and operated by G. C. Showalter, has been sold to T. J. Eboch & Co. Mr. T. J. Eboch who is said to be a first class business man will manage the business, and it is predicted that under his able management the new firm will retain and add to the splendid trade Mr. Showalter had built up.

WILLIAM WOLF DEAD.

One of Penns Valley's Most Prominent and Esteemed Citizens Passes away After a Months Illness.

William Wolf of Centre Hall, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the town and county died at his home Tuesday morning at 4:30, o'clock after a months illness with an incurable liver trouble. His death had been anticipated for several days past and was not, therefore unexpected to his family and friends. William Wolf was born in Brush Valley, near Rebersburg in Centre county, April 30, 1824 and worked upon his fathers farm until he was twenty two years of age. He then embarked in mercantile life and continued in that business for upwards of thirty years. In 1854 he was married to Miss Anna Whitmer, a daughter of a former employer, at that time he permanently located in Centre Hall where he has since resided. Mr. Wolf was a prominent and useful member of the Lutheran church and the beautiful structure in Centre Hall belonging to that denomination was made possible by his munificent and generous donation. For a number of years he was a trustee of the Gettysburg Theological Seminary, a Lutheran Institution. He was a friend of education and did much for its progress and development at home and abroad. In 1876 he became President of the Penns Valley Banking Company at Centre Hall resigning the position several years ago on account of advancing years and impaired health, Mr Wolf never sought public recognition, he was satisfied and content to follow the course of an honest upright christian man as such he lived, as such he died. Centre Hall will mourn the loss of a good friend and neighbor and the county will deplore the departure of one of its most successful and representative citizens. Mr. Wolf is survived by a widow and one son, J. Whitmer Wolf of the mercantile firm of Wolf and Crawford, a brother Rev. E. J. Wolf, D. D., professor in the Gettysburg Theological Seminary also survives him.

The funeral will occur on Friday morning next at 10 o'clock from his late residence in Centre Hall.

Lost His Right Arm.

John B. Smith, brakeman on mountain, while making up a train in the Tyrone yard Friday morning had his right arm caught between the deadwoods of two cars and crushed so severely that amputation was necessary. The bone was crushed from the wrist to elbow and the joint was injured. After the accident happened about 7 o'clock the injured man was removed to the operating room at the depot, where Drs. Gemmill, Fulkerson and Moorehouse were summoned. An examination proved at once that there was no hope for saving the arm, and it was amputated just above the elbow.

He stood the operation splendidly, and after coming out from the influence of the opiate had a barber brought to the room and was shaved, in the meantime continuing conversation with friends who dropped in to see him. He was removed to the home of his father, Decatur Smith, at Vail, on the 12 30 Bald Eagle Valley train.

Young Smith served in the ranks of Sheridan Troop during its service in the Spanish war, and was a faithful soldier in all his service, from Mount Gretna to Porto Rico and return home.—Tyrone Herald.

Appointed by the Governor.

HARRISBURG, July 11.—Governor Stone, Monday appointed Levi Wells, of Bradford county, to be dairy and food commissioner of the department of agriculture, to date from July 8. Mr. Wells is the present incumbent and was originally appointed by Governor Hastings. Dr. J. L. Forward, of Chester, Delaware county has been appointed by the governor to be a member of the quarantine board for the port of Philadelphia, to serve from July 1 1899, until the end of the session.

Married on the Train.

A Swedish couple residing at Windber went to Clearfield Saturday. A minister and the marriage license clerk were in waiting. The ceremony was performed on the rear of the train in time to permit the newly married couple to return home the same day. Hon. Joseph Merrey, of Beech Creek, was the first gentleman to congratulate the happy groom.

A Popular Writer of Ballads Dead.

New York, July 11.—Charles Graham the ballad writer, is dead in Bellevue hospital. In spite of the great popularity of his songs he is said to have died penniless, One of his greatest successes, "Two Little Girls in Blue" brought him only $10. Graham was born in Boston, England, in 1863. He inherited his musical gifts from his father who was a musician and composer.

MANY TEACHERS.

DELEGATIONS ARE ARRIVING FAST

It is Expected That This Evening Will See Fully 12,000 Educators in the Beautiful Southern California Town.

EDUCATION OF COLORED YOUTH

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 12.—The city was en fete yesterday and the music of bands was heard on every hand. The New York delegation to the National Educational association, the Raymond and Whitcomb party from eastern points, the special with the Ohio delegation, the special bringing the Pennsylvania contingent, two Philadelphia specials and a special from Vicksburg bringing delegates from southern points arrived yesterday. The special that was in collision with the freight train in the northern part of the state also arrived, bringing the Missouri and other delegates except the injured, who had been left at San Francisco. The delegates attended previous who arrived yesterday numbered fully 3,500. When the last special arrives from Chicago today it is estimated that there will be over 12,000 teachers in the city.

The national council of educators held its concluding session yesterday. The first business taken up was the report of the committee on libraries and their relation to public schools, presented by Chairman J. C. Dana, librarian, public library, Springfield, Mass.

The board of directors of the National Educational association, at their meeting yesterday unanimously passed the following resolution, offered by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of New York:

Resolved, That the president of the national association be instructed to send the following telegram of congratulation on behalf of the association to the American delegates to the Peace Conference, now in session at The Hague:

"Andrew D. White, chairman of the American delegation to the Peace Conference, The Hague, Holland.

"The National Educational association in convention assembled tenders to the peace conference heartiest congratulations on the success which has attended the noble effort in behalf of the principal arbitration."

Co-operative Colony in Ohio.

Toledo, July 12.—Plains have been formulated for a large co-operative colony to be situated on Lake Erie near here, and 8,000 acres of land are to be secured to be devoted both to farming and manufacturing interest. The promoter of the scheme is Joseph A. Johnson, of the state of Washington, and he has with him a number of local people who have ample means. Mr. Johnson announced that it is the intention to build a city, which will engage in a commercial trade, the profits of which are to be divided equally among the members of the colony. The colony will be perfectly independent from the start.

Bryan to Speak at Scottdale.

Greensburg, Pa., July 12.—William J. Bryan, who was the Democratic candidate for President, will receive $200 from the Western Pennsylvania firemen for a speech during the annual gathering at Scottdale in August. Some time ago the firemen's committee at Scottdale entered into correspondence with the Nebraska statesman, and a few days ago a letter was received stating that he contemplated a visit to Western Pennsylvania at that time and would gladly deliver a lecture at Scottdale, providing his terms were acceded to.

—While ransacking the house of Newton C. Taynton at Williamsport Wednesday night a burglar was interrupted by a servant girl. Instead of bolting, the fellow gathered up his plunder, made the astonished young woman a polite bow, and was gone before she could give the alarm.

—Mr. A. S. Romig, of near Montandon, had quite an experience the other day while harvesting. He was using the binder when the horses frightened and became uncontrollable and ran away. A tree was close by and they dashed against it breaking the binder almost beyond repair. Mr. Romig escaped with a few bruises.

General Otis cables that he has about 1,000 veteran volunteers for re-enlistment. They will form the nucleus for the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh United States volunteer infantry.

Royalists Wanted Money.

PARIS, July 12.—The report which the prefect of police presented to the government March 29, on the Orleanist party, says the League of Patriots and the anti-Semite league were in close relations with the Duke of Orleans, who sent 5,000 francs to M. Deroulede and large sums to Deputy Jules Gurin. Altogether the Royalists are said to have expended 300,000 francs in getting up the Neuilli barracks fiasco. Count Boni de Castellane, Anna Gould's husband, also subsidized the Royalist movement. Prof. Syveton, treasurer of the League of the French Fatherland, has been suspended from his duties at the college of Rheims for attempts to incite an anti-Dreyfus agitation at Rennes.

It is rumored that as a result of the revelation of the inhuman cruelty practiced upon Dreyfus while on Devils island M. Lebon, the minister responsible for the orders sent to Deniel, in charge of the penal settlement, will be proceeded against the government not confining its action to dismissal of Deniel. Bertillion, the handwriting expert who testified before the court of cassation that Dreyfus was the author of the bordereau still remains at the head of the anthropometric department of the prefecture of police, but has been deprived of his official duties. Baron Bauiny, another of the aristocratic promoters of the demonstration against President Loubet at Auteuil, has been pardoned. Loubet also desired to pardon Baron Christiani, who made the assault upon him, but the cabinet decided that this was quite out of the question.

Yellow Fever Conquered.

New York, July 12.—Oscar F. Lackey, the patient on Swinburne island upon whom Dr. Doty made his first test of yellow fever serum, is free from the disease. His temperature is now normal. At the same time, he is suffering from a complication which was present before he contracted yellow fever. The kidneys are involved, and the ordeal through which he has just passed has aggravated the earlier malady. Mr. Lackey is slowly gaining strength, although conditions may arise at any time which may cause a relapse. Dr. Doty, who ever since the serum was used has been conservative in his statements, will not yet announce that the patient is outof danger. The yellow fever has left Mr. Lackey in a weak and exhausted condition, and patients who have apparently recovered from yellow fever have frequently been unable to rally from the after effects of the disease.

Costly Fur Coat.

Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay has just ordered a sable and sealskin coat for $7,500. The sealskins in the garment will cost $2 000. The sables, which are from a stock laid aside for the Russian royalty, are worth $5,500. Twenty-four of these skins will be used. The average value of each is $250, The body of the cloak will be of Alaskan seal. Sable skins eight inches wide will trim the entire edge. With the cloak is being made a sable tippet which will contain ten skins. The ends of the tippet will be trimmed with sable claws and tails. The linings will be of heavy corded silk.

Mrs. Mackay was Miss Katherine Duer before she became a Mackay—the "beautiful Katherine Duer" was her sobriquet. The family traces itself back to Lady Kitty Duer, the famous colonial wit and beauty. Miss Katherine seemed to have inherited both the beauty and the wit of her ancestor.

Faithful to His Duty.

Wilmington, Del., July 12.—William Ahern, telegraph operator of the Delaware railroad at Ginns crossing, was discovered at his desk in the tower at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning bleeding and unconscious from wounds on the head. He had been assaulted by two negroes, who robbed him of $25. Before becoming unconscious Ahern set the signals in both directions to stop trains, which caused the crew of a southbound train to stop and make an investigation. The precaution taken by the brave operator prevented the possibility of train collisions. The assailants were arrested. They are James Young and Chester Rasin, from Uniontown, Md.

Barbers Will Scowl at This.

Now it is positively asserted that long continued shaving of the face causes baldness. The theory is that all the hair making material in the system is used up in renewing the beard, the growth of which is immensely stimulated by constant cutting back. Men who let their beards grow, women and beardless races rarely suffer premature loss of hair.

Charles Mali, for the past 36 years Belgian consul in New York, died in that city Monday.

A Successful Musicale.

The second of the series of Musicales for the benefit of the piano fund of the W. C. T. U., was held Thursday evening at the handsome home of Dr. Thomas R. Hayes on North Allegheny street, and proved a very delightful and highly successful entertainment.

The splendid home of the Doctor was made very attractive by the exquisite decorations of flowers and palms. It was largely attended over $51.00 being realized.

The following was the programme rendered each performer receiving the generous and hearty applause of all present.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimoniale. Address,

Roosevelt's Contribution

NEW YORK, July 7.—The Brooklyn Eagle received a letter from Governor Roosevelt yesterday accompanied by a check for $25 for the Dewey fund. In his letter the governor says:

"I enclose you a check as a slight token of my appreciation of your effort to get some memorial and to give recognition in whatever shape the admiral himself deems best, to services to the country which have justly rendered him the man of all since the civil war, who stands highest in the popular regard."

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet, the greeting usually is, "Well, how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no bowel or stomach trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They eat as though they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and by, overworked nature rebels. Then come headaches, nervousness, bad blood, liver and kidney trouble. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets furnish help for constipation and torpid liver, sick and billious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belching, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Accept no substitute.

Visiting Their Relatives.

Dr. Hogue and family, of Altoona, are visiting friends in Nittany valley and are traveling by private conveyance. Mrs. Hogue was Miss Rose McDowell, formerly of Lamar township, and this is her first visit to her old home in ten years. They stopped over night at the home of County Superintendent Snyder. Thursday they went to Bellefonte to visit the Dr.'s brother, Conductor Hogue, of the Central railroad. Lock Haven Democrat.

The liver. Hood's Pills,
By invigorating the liver.
Quickly overcome the headache, cause the blood to circulate naturally and bring about complete relief. Hood's Pills act directly upon the liver and bowels. They are prompt and reliable and yet gentle in action. They tone and strengthen instead of weakening the system.

To Drive Away Flies.

People in the country who are annoyed by flies should remember that clusters of the fragrant clover, which grows abundantly by nearly every road side, if hung in a room and left to dry and shed its fragrant perfume through the air, will drive away more flies than sticky saucers of molasses and other fly traps and paper can ever collect.

Volcanic Eruptions

Are grand, but Skin Eruptions rob life of joy. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, cures them, also Old, Running and Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, Warts, Cuts, Bruises, Burns Scalds, Chapped Hands, Chilblains. Best Pile cure on earth. Drives out Pains and Aches. Only 25cts. a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by F. Potts Green Druggist.

SEA POSTOFFICES AND THE TIME THEY SAVE.

The separating of New York mail and mail for the principal States and cities is done by the sea postoffices in steamers of the North German Lloyd Hamburg American and American Lines says Scribners and when mails are received by either of these steamers they are ready for delivery in a much shorter time than when received by other vessels. In addition to the sea postoffice service the transfer service has also in the last two or three years materially reduced the work at the Foreign Department in the New York office.

No sooner has the "tucker" reported the Campania or other big liner "off Fire Island" than a veteran of the transportation department accompanied by a few clerks and porters, hastens to the foot of Cortlandt street and boards the Postmaster General the flagship of the postoffice fleet. The boat was built for this service, and is equipped with spacious mail rooms chutes for transboarding sacks and other expediting appliances. Steam is up, and she is on down the bay to meet the big steamer. She makes fast to her sides and the mails are received aboard through the chutes while the clerks check and verify the number received on a sort of invoice called "way bill' prepared by the London, Havre or sea postoffice. Frequently the passengers are still awaiting the quarantine doctor while mails are speeding on their way to the Battery, where the New York city sacks are landed; then to the Pennsylvania Railroad, then to the foot of Forty-second street, where wagons await the mails for the Grand Central Depot. Thus a great saving in time is often made while formerly the whole mail went first to the docks of the several transatlantic lines, the by wagons to the general postoffice then again by wagons to the different depots. When the mails are handled by sea postoffices during the sea trip they generally arrive ready for the trains and little but what is for New York city proper comes to the general office. But the large and heavy mails on the Cunard and White Star lines, also on the French line, are not thus assorted, and fully two-thirds have to come to the foreign division to be handled as previously described.

IN one of Judge Love's circulars, there appears a bitter paragraph against Gen. Hastings, which in substance alleges that he, (Love) was an ardent supporter of McKinley, and that Hastings was not. We do not suppose the public has any interest in such a boyish controversy, but let us look at the facts.

When McKinley was a candidate, Judge Love did not make a single speech for him. On the other hand Governor Hastings was personally invited to come to the President's home at Canton, Ohio, to deliver an address at the formal opening of the Presidential Campaign. His speech on that occasion, together with those of Senator Thurston of Nebraska and Senator Cullom of Illinois, was printed in pamphlet form and distributed as a campaign document throughout the country. In that campaign General Hastings was five weeks on the stump, speaking in the larger cities in the states of New York, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Indiana and Pennsylvania. He was also personally thanked by the President for his loyal and vigorous response to the call for troops in the Spanish War, and for his humane treatment of the Pennsylvania sick soldiers in the Southern Hospitals. President McKinley has no more ardent supporter than General Hastings. The latter was out speaking for his party day and night at the time that Judge Love in his circular accuses him of attempting to defeat the Republican ticket in Centre County.

We are sorry that Judge Love should lose his temper. It is unjudicial. If he wants to beat Williams and Gowland as delegates to the State Convention, we suggest that he might issue a circular against them instead of against a private citizen who is not a candidate for any office.

Andrew Carnegie Honored.

Aberdeen, Scotland, July 7.—The freedom of Tain, Caithness, was bestowed upon Andrew Carnegie Wednesday. The town was decorated with flags and bunting, the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes floating side by side over mottos of welcome.

The provost in conferring the freedom at the town hall said the world had never seen a man comparable with the "great and distinguished Scot-American in the magnitude of his liberality to public libraries and in the advancement of art and education, upon which, in Great Britain and America he has expended £4,000,000.

Mr. Carnegie made a brief reply.

Colonel Hawkins.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The president yesterday found opportunity in connection with the visit to the white house of a Pennsylvania delegation to express in a semi-public manner his appreciation of the services of the volunteer force in the Philippine archipelago. The delegation was headed by Governor Stone, and was composed of twenty-five or thirty influential citizens. They called in connection with the home coming of the Tenth Pennsylvania regiment, which is now on its way across the Pacific. The delegation went to the white house to prefer a request that Colonel Hawkins be promoted to a brigadier generalship.

Replying the president said that no citizen of the country could have a higher appreciation than he of the exceptional services and patriotic self-sacrifice of the troops in the Pacific islands. "I should, he said, "like to have an opportunity to take by the hand and thank every individual member of the volunteer forces for remaining in the Philippines and assisting in the work there beyond the time required of them by the terms of their enlistment."

He added that he would make an effort to arrange the itinerary of his western trip so as to be in Pittsburg at the time of the arrival of the Pennsylvania boys and take part in the reception to be tendered them.

With reference to the promotion of Colonel Hawkins the president said he would be glad to give the recognition provided there were no military obstacles.

A Healthful Drink for Hot Weather.

This is the twenty-first season for that famous and healthful drink, Hires Rootbeer. The campaign has opened. The war against thirst is on, and of course Hires will reign supreme in an undisputed realm of its own. In all of these years it has stood proof against imitation and counterfeit, and now in its strength of full growth rises far above any serious competition.

Summer and Hires Rootbeer are associated in our mind as things inseparable. We look forward to that as a summer beverage as we look for the rising of the sun. It has been of inestimable value to thousands of people, supplying them at once with a delicious, healthful and thirst-quenching drink, occupying the same place at the family table as tea or coffee.

Its growth has been rapid and remarkable, long since reaching proportions never dreamed of by its proprietors. One of its remarkable features is its trifling cost, one package may be converted into 5 gallons of this delicious, sparkling temperance drink, containing medical properties of well-known virtue. It

Laws For French Automobiles.

From the Manufacturer.

Laws regulating the operation of automobiles on public highways have recently been adopted in France. These provide that the machines must be so constructed as not to allow any matter to escape which might cause explosions or unpleasant smells. They must be built so as not to frighten horses, so that nothing will obstruct the view of the driver so that they may be lit up after dark, and the handles regulating the machinery must be so arranged that the driver can work them without taking his eyes off the route he is following. Every vehicle must be provided with two distinct systems of brake, each capable of shutting off automatically the force of the motor and bringing it under instant control. One at least of these systems must act directly on the wheels or axles in such a manner as to bring them immediately to a standstill. All carriages exceeding 250 pounds in weight must be able to reverse their machinery and run backwards. Foreign vehicles must be passed by the French authorities before they are allowed to run in France.

Indigestion brings on distress after eating with heaviness and deadness of the stomach, sick headache, weary and tired feeling that is not relieved by rest, unhealthy eruptions on the skin, constipation, loss of appetite, pains in the sides and back, etc. These are but few of the symptoms of indigestion and dyspepsia. To multitudes who thus suffer Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup has proved a help and a blessing. Price 60c. and 30c. a bottle. It will cost you nothing to try it. Sample free. Address A. J. White, No. 286—168 Duane St., New York.

PEOPLE WITHOUT FOOD.

Heartrending Stories Come from the State of Texas.

PLANTATIONS ARE UNDER WATER

Thousands of Persons Are Suffering for Want of Necessary Food and Clothing —Many Rumors of Loss of Life.

BUSINESS SUSPENDED AT RICHMOND

RICHMOND, Tex., July 8.—Never in the history of Richmond were such scenes witnessed as are depicted to-day. Business is practically suspended. Many plantations are under water. All trains save those on the Southern Pacific west have been abandoned. Provisions are running low and unless something is done quickly there will be great suffering here within a few days.

It is believed there will be at the very least from 3,000 to 5,000 persons to feed from this place within a week. Stories of drowning and disasters are coming in constantly, but they cannot be verified, although it is probable that many of them are correct. The water has reached the river bridge and is dashing between the iron guy rods and under it and for the first time the railroad company has stopped all traffic over it.

AUSTIN, Texas., July 8. A special train on the Santa Fe, which left here for Thompson, Durkee and Arcola, returned late Thursday night with the officials of the road abroad. They had left the rescuers to do their work, which was progressing exceptionally well. General Superintendent Bessegue made a very favorable report on the situation and seemed to believe that the people were not suffering.

"I am of the opinion that there has been no casualties. It appears that the people had time to get to high ground. On the approaches to our bridges there is at least a hundred people who are comfortable and propose to stay there until they either have to move or the flood subsides. They have a tent and provisions enough to last ninety days. There is need for those who were rescued in the town of Thompson. I do not believe anybody is starving, but they have not supplies enough to run them for any length of time.

"The crew of the life-saving station are doing excellent work. These boats were just what was needed. They took up two life boats, a cedar and a skiff, and we furnished four boats from our picnic grounds. All these were manned by men from the cutter Galveston. From about 5 o'clock until 8.30 they had rescued sixty-eight people.

"Our roadbed for four miles each side of Thompson is covered with water from two inches to four feet deep. From what I could learn, I am of the opinion that there is not to exceed a mile that is in really bad condition, and when the water goes down so we can get the track it will be but the work of a short time to put it in condition again. Our bridges seem to be all right and the bridges that have been washed away are all small affairs. There is possibly a mile of track that has been washed from the roadbed."

Growing Silk Industry.

The annual report of the Bureau of Industrial Statistics for 1898, the advance sheets of which have just been issued, devotes considerable space to the growth of the silk industry in Pennsylvania. The report shows that there were 88 silk plants in operation last year, with a total of 699,308 spindles 117 hand looms, 9,238 power looms and 3,401 machines. The average number of weeks in operation was 51, and the number of employes skilled and unskilled, was 5,441 males, 10,999 females and 3,926 children. The average yearly wages of the males was $371.73; females, $215.71; children, $120.48.

The production in broad goods was 18,870,096 yards, with a corresponding value of $10,889,455. The most remarkable increase in production was that of ribbons. In round numbers, 70,000,000 yards of ribbons were turned out by Pennsylvania silk plants in 1898, as against a production in round numbers of 35,000,000 yards in 1895, with a corresponding value of $4,327,374, as against $2,500,000 in 1895.

The value of the entire production for 1898 was $32,334,620, as against $24,184,583 in 1895, an increase of $8,150,037.

A Cuban general, who claims descent from Charlemange, is said to be at the head of a conspiracy to make him king of Cuba. If he isn't careful this temporary loss of his head will lead to the permanent loss of that useful member.

In military prisons an offender is sometimes sentenced to carry cannon balls from one place to another and pile them up all day long. That is all. Perhaps it does not seem very terrible but it soon wears his life out. It is practically a death sentence, and he knows it; he would rather be shot. Many a sick man feels the same way about the burden of disease that he is lugging back and forth from day to day. He would as soon be down with a mortal disease. It will come to that sooner or later.

A man's life can be dragged out by dyspepsia and liver complaint. The experience of Mr. J. T. Cardwell, of Fall Creek Depot, Pittsylvania Co., Va., shows how Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery saves people from consumption by waking up their nutritive organism and giving it power to supply pure, healthy blood, which drives out blood poisons and dead tissues and builds up sound, wholesome flesh and muscle.

"I feel it my duty," writes Mr. Cardwell in a letter to Dr. Pierce, "to write you of the lasting benefits derived from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and little 'Pellets.' Seven years ago I contracted a severe cold, which baffled the skill of one of the best physicians in my State. It ran on and I continually grew worse until I concluded to write to the 'World's Dispensary Medical Association.' The answer to my inquiry advised me to use 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets' for indigestion and liver complaint; at this time two months had passed. In two or three days after I had commenced the use of your medicine my cough had entirely stopped, my digestion was better, my low spirits driven away and I felt new life and vigor in my whole body."

This marvelous "Discovery" makes nerve force and rugged power. It is far better than oily emulsions; it does not make flabby fat, it does not increase the weight of corpulent people.

United in Wedlock.

On the Fourth of July at high noon the Methodist parsonage on East Linn street was the scene of a very pretty wedding. The contracting parties were Mr. John C. Kennedy, of Williamsport, and Miss Elsie Austin, formerly of Centre Hall, but late of Bellefonte.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. William A. Stephens, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of this place, who soon pronounced the words which united this happy young couple for life.

The best man was Mr. Claude Moore, of Bellefonte, and the bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Lieb, also of this place.

At the close of the marriage ceremony the bridal party repaired to the residence of J. Mitchell Lieb in Bush Addition, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. After receiving the congratulations of their many friends Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left on the 1:05 train for Eagles Mere where the honeymoon will be spent.

Mr. Kennedy is a plumber by trade and is employed in Williamsport where they will make their future home.

The bride made her home at Mr. Wm. Dawson's on Spring street and among the many handsome presents received was a silver tea set the gift of the boarders at this house.

This paper joins with the many friends in congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy and wishes them many years of happy wedded life.

Bellefonte Boys On Top.

It don't matter where you put a Bellefonte boy he is bound to succeed. John Dubbs Jr., of this place, who started in the express business under Charles Tripple, was appointed last week as agent for the Adams Express company at Hazleton, Pa. Hazleton is a city of 10,000 inhabitants and as Mr. Dubbs has full charge of the office it can be seen at once what a responsible position it is.

Harry Taylor, who has been express messenger on the Bald Eagle Valley road for some time past, has been given a better position on the Bells Gap Road. His run will be from Bellwood to Punxsutawney and he will lay over night at Bellwood.

Only recently Edward Rine another Bellefonte boy was given a position by the same company at Punxsutawney and no doubt he too will give a good account of himself.

All of these young men received their training under Mr. Tripple and their success reflects the greatest credit on their teacher who is recognized by the company as one of the best men in the express business today.

New Scale of Wages Soon to Go Into Effect.

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., July 6.—At a meeting of the coal operators of the Beech Creek region and upon reports of the miners, an agreement was reached fixing the rate of pay at 27½ cents per gross ton for loading after machines. The new scale is to go into effect August 1 and to continue for one year. The present rate is 25 cents a ton.

THE KISSING BUG IS HERE.

It Can Be Seen at Krumrine's Drug Store.

The famous Kissing bug which has been creating such furor in our large cities has reached Bellefonte at last.

One of these famous bugs was captured alive Thursday by John Morgan, of East Logan street, who now has it on exhibition at Krumrine's drug store on South Allegheny street. The bug answers the description in all respects, in color, size, wings, legs, and in the feature that distinguishes it from other insects, that of the sharp pointed, curved proboscis. It is not known whether the bug had any victims around here or not. It is safe to say that Mr. Morgan did not give it much chance to get in its work once he got his eyes on it.

A good story is told of the second Duke of Wellington, who, though far from being stingy, was in many odd ways economical. He discovered one day some champagne, which he considered, and which doubtless was quite good enough for a ball supper, and which had the advantage of being extraordinarily low in price. He ordered the quantity required, and was rejoicing in his excellent bargain when, on opening one of the papers, he encountered the following advertisement: "Try our celebrated champagne at 38 shillings a dozen, as ordered by his Grace the Duke of Wellington for his forthcoming ball at Apsley House."

WOMEN OF JAPAN.

In appearance a Japanese woman is smaller and of slighter build than a European. Many are distinctly pretty when young. Their complexions are very sallow, but their faces generally thickly painted and are powdered a hard line around the neck showing the point where art stops and nature begins Beauty, from a Japanese standpoint, consists in a long, oval face, regular features, almond-shaped eyes, sloping slightly upward, a high, narrow forehead and abundance of smooth, black hair. Their movements are graceful, although the style of their dress prevents their walking with ease; their feet and hands are delicately formed and their manners unquestionably charming.

A Japanese courtship and wedding are both very curious ceremonies and still somewhat savor of barbarism. "When a young man has fixed his affections upon a maiden of suitable standing he declares his love by fastening a branch of a certain shrub to the house of the damsel's parents. If the branch be neglected the suit is rejected; if it be accepted so is the suitor." At the time of the marriage the bridegroom sends presents to his bride as costly as his means will allow, which she immediately offers to her parents in acknowledgment of their kindness in infancy and of the pains bestowed upon her education.

The wedding takes place in the evening. The bride is dressed in a long white silk "kimono" and white veil and she and her future husband sit facing each other on the floor. Two tables are placed close by; on the one is a kettle with two spouts a bottle of sake and cups; on the other table a miniature fir tree—signifying the strength of the bridegroom a plum tree—signifying the beauty of the bride; and lastly, a stork standing on a tortoise—representing long life and happiness, desired by them both. At the marriage feast each guest in turn drinks three cups of sake, and the two-spouted kettle also containing sake, is put to the mouth of the bride and bridegroom; alternately by two attendants, signifying that they are to share together joys and sorrows. The bride keeps her veil all her life, and at her death it is buried with her as her shroud. The chief duty of a Japanese woman all her life is obedience; while unmarried to her parents; when married to her husband and his parents; when widowed to her son.

Does Coffee Agree With You?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." NEARLY

FIFTY-EIGHT YEARS OLD.

It's a long life, but devotion to the true interests and prosperity of the American People has won for it new friends as the years rolled by and the original members of its family passed to their reward, and these admirers are loyal and steadfast today, with faith in its teachings, and confidence in the information which it brings to their homes and firesides.

As a natural consequence it enjoys in its old age all the vitality and vigor of its youth, strengthened and ripened by the experiences of over half a century. It has lived on its merits, and on the cordial support of progressive Americans.

It is "The New York Weekly Tribune," acknowledged the country over as the leading National family newspaper.

Recognizing its value to those who desire all the news of the State and Nation, the publisher of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN (your own favorite home paper) has entered into an alliance with "The New York Weekly Tribune" which enables him to furnish both papers at the trifling cost of $1.25 per year.

Every farmer and every villager owes to himself to his family and to the community in which he lives a cordial support of his local newspaper, as it works constantly and untiringly for his interests in every way, brings to his home all the news and happenings of his neighborhood, the doings of his friends, the condition and prospects for different crops, the prices in home markets, and, in fact, is a weekly visitor which should be found in every wide awake, progressive family.

An Open Letter From Susan B. Anthony.

The National Social and political Conference which opens a six day session in Buffalo the 28th of June, has upon its committee many of the most prominent men and women of our country, representing various political and social beliefs, who meet to consider the present condition of American politics and economics, with the hope of securing united action in important directions.

In reply to a letter inviting her to be present, Miss Susan B. Anthony hits the nail on the head when she says:

"The one great hindrance to social and political reforms lies in the fact of the disfranchisement of that half of the race, which contains by far the largest number of persons interested in bringing about such results.

As I look over the list of your special and general committees, I find the majority of them are ministers, professors and reform editors and leaders, all good and strong as individuals, but weak as representatives, because the vast majority of their constituents are disfranchised citizens, hence of no weight in the political scales on the side of women who compose the vast majority of the members of our churches, the teachers and students of our colleges, universities, literary and scientific clubs, together with the multitudes in all the different charity and reform organizations of the country, were voters, every word spoken, every resolution passed and every measure recommended by your conference, would prove the needed weight to bring down the political scale on the side of justice and equality to all people, men and woman alike, in our new and old possessions.

As a military necessity compelled the emancipation of slaves; as a political necessity compelled the enfranchisement of colored men, so a moral necessity now demands, the enfranchisements of women."

Susan B. Anthony.

after you have concluded that you ough not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about ¼ as much. Children thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. 15 and 25c. at grocers.

Playing Poker by Wire.

Few outside the brotherhood of the key are aware that operators often play poker over the wire. It is, nevertheless, a fact, and the diversion is fairly common.

"When I was working on the Blankety-blank line at a little railroad station in Illinois," said an ex-operator the other day, "business was very slack toward early morning and we used to get up a four-handed game regularly. The players were myself and three other operators at different points along the line. We would call each other up and then every man would deal himself a hand, making his discards and "helping" as desired. Of course we had to trust to mutual honor as to cheating, but I think everybody was on the square. All played freezeout and the loser had to treat when we got together at headquarters, which was about once a month. I must confess that the action was a little slow, but the game was more exciting than one might imagine. Almost all the old operators have played cards by telegraph at some time or other."

Call for Republican County Convention.

The Republicans of Centre County will meet at their respective voting places in the several election districts in the county on Saturday July 22 1899 for the purpose of electing delegates to the County Convention. The delegates chosen at that time will meet in convention at the Court House in Bellefonte on Tuesday July 25, 1899 at 11 o'clock a. m, for the purpose of nominating, one person for the office of Sheriff, one person for the office of Treasurer, one person for the office of Register, one person for the office of Recorder, two persons for the office of Commissioners, two persons for the office of Auditors, and one person for the office of Coroner. The said delegates in convention assembled will also elect two delegates to the Republican State Convention which meets at Harrisburg on Thursday August 24, 1899. They will also elect a county chairman for the year 1900 and transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Under the rules of the party the number of delegates to which each precinct is entitled is as follows:

Chairman Republican County Com.
HARRY KELLER, Secretary.

If Samuel B. Miller, the Love candidate for Delegate to the State Convention from Centre County, would devote to the real issues of the contest, in which he is cutting a wide swathe, the same amount of energy and zeal he is consuming in his attacks upon the personal character and private life of General Hastings he would at least win the respect of those to whom his past and present mode of campaigning is both distasteful and obnoxious.

ANONYMOUS CIRCULAR LETTERS.

We are informed, and from what we deem a reliable source, that His Honor, Judge Love has in course of preparation numerous circular letters that will flood the county at intervals between the present time and the 22nd inst. the date of the Republican primaries. The campaign literature compiled and edited under the careful supervision of His Honor will doubtless scintillate with glittering generalities and laudatory panegyrics, a euphonious jingle of words calculated to deceive the unwary and hoodwink the unsuspecting, or, perhaps, these circular communications may entirely ignore the genuine issues of the present political struggle and confine their utterances to a vindictive and unwarranted attack upon the object of the Judge's personal enmity and hatred—General Hastings. It is seemingly the purpose of the little band of leaders in the county to create, if possible, a public sentiment against General Hastings in order to divert the mind of the Republican voter from the real motive of the contest. We would urge all Republicans to digest carefully the anonymous communications they may from time to time receive within the next ten days and consider well the source from whence they come and the purpose of their missions. Beware of anonymous literature in the guise of circular letters. It is promulgated only to deceive and misrepresent and may perhaps be credited to a source from which it had no origin whatever.

A TRIBUTE TO A FRIEND.

"On Saturday Governor Hasting made a proposition to the Veteran Club of Centre County that for every dollar subscribed by the club toward the erection of a monument in Bellefonte to the memory of Andrew G. Curtin he would place a dollar beside it. This is a most liberal offer and the Veterans are elated over the interest this proposition has created in the direction of this most worthy project. Let the Club now go to work. The occasion is ripe for action."

The above, taken from the "Keystone Gazette" of June 23rd, is a correct statement of a proposition made by General Hastings to several members of the Veteran Club of Centre County when the subject of the erection of a monument to the memory of the late Governor Curtin was presented to him for the purpose of securing his aid and co-operation in the movement. This offer of General Hastings was made in good faith, without the least thought of realizing any political benefit whatever from his assistance to a praiseworthy and laudable project. The only motive that actuated the General's liberal and generous proposal was that of doing what he could to encourage a plan whose aim is to perpetuate in a fitting manner, in Centre county, the memory of a distinguished citizen and neighbor, a man for whom he had the warmest feelings of friendship and personal regard and from whose hands he received many kindnesses and substantial assistance in the early days of his residence in Bellefonte. It is reliably stated that W. H. Musser, Esq., of Bellefonte, one of Hastings' most bitter and relentless defamers, is preparing a circular letter to be sent to every member of the Veteran Club of Centre County stating that the offer of General Hastings to the organization in the interest of the Curtin Monument Fund was made solely for the purpose of securing the support of the Veteran Club in his political contests in the county and urging them one and all to administer to Hastings a crushing rebuke at the coming primary election for his mercenary attempt to purchase the support of the Veteran Club by such sordid and reprehensible methods. Such a contemptible and malignant interpretation of General Hastings' proposition to the Veteran Club by Mr. Musser is unworthy even of him. Well might every contribution to a meritorious cause be ascribed to selfish and mercenary motives. Happily, however, the citizens of Centre county are not all built upon the narrow and circumscribed substratum as that of Musser and his like and public benefactions by private citizens—or public officials for that matter—are always accepted in the same pure and artless spirit they are given. General Hastings will stand by his proposition to the Veteran Club of Centre County and asks no better recognition of his action than the self-consciousness that he was given and welcomed the opportunity to pay a tribute to the memory of a friend and councellor who was near and dear to him—Andrew G. Curtin, the War Governor of Pennsylvania.

ONE of the recent acquisitions to the Love forces in Centre County, whose activity in the cause he now espouses is remarkable only for its flow of personal abuse and vituperation should be mindful of the fact that an unruly tongue with unlimited range of action is often found to be a dangerous member of the human organism. In other words, freedom of speech without regard for character of diction and observation of truth leads to disastrous results. The gentleman in question will readily comprehend the force of our remarks as he has already suffered the consequences of too much liberty of expression founded not upon facts but upon the imagination of a diseased brain. He certainly should profit by the bitter experience of the past and conform his future deportment to suit the conditions he must meet in a respectable and refined community in which he has taken up his residence.

REPUBLICANS of Centre County do not be led astray by the few political workers in the county who are bending every energy, straining every nerve and resorting to every scheme to eliminate from the present contest the only question legitimately involved. General Hastings is not a candidate for any office nor is Judge Love so far as we know. Their personal grievances should have no part in our political contentions. Let them settle their differences in some other way. It is not fair to the Republican candidates in the field for county offices, to drag into the campaign individual wrongs, fancied or real, and thus imperil the chances, seemingly so bright and auspicious, for a Republican victory in Centre County this fall.

THE war records of Captain Williams and Captain Gowland are second to none in the county—or in the country for that matter. Their Republicanism is as staunch and loyal and honest as is that of any of their traducers and maligners and in not a few instances far more to be depended upon and of infinitely more stability.

HASTINGS LOYAL TO HIS PARTY.

It seems to be the aim and purpose of the Judge Love political faction to create an impression among the Republicans of Centre county that the "BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN" will be used by the "kickers" and "party wreckers" as such are styled who hold a different view of the political question than that maintained by Judge Love, to defeat, if possible, the Republican county ticket at the approaching election. This is not true in fact nor in theory.

The "REPUBLICAN" favors the candidacy of Captain Williams and Captain Gowland for Delegates from Centre county to the State Convention for many reasons, several of which we will give as sufficient to justify our endorsement of these gentlemen. First. Because they thoroughly and honestly represent an issue that this paper fully and cordially approves and supports. Second. They are good straightforward and loyal Republicans, whose service to the party with which they have been for years affiliated merits any recognition or any distinction the Republican party of Centre County may see proper to accord them. Third. They are gentlemen of unimpeachable character, Veterans of the Civil War, whose devotion and zeal to their country's cause surely entitles them, if no other reason exists, to the slight favor they solicit from their fellow Republicans. Fourth. They were avowed candidates and in the field for election as State Delegates long before their opponents, Messrs. Miller and Dunwiddie, declared their intention to enter the contest. For these reasons, and others not necessary to enumerate, the "REPUBLICAN" favors the election of Williams and Gowland. So far as the candidates for county offices are concerned, we have no preference, and whatever may be the action of the County Convention in the choice of a ticket, that ticket will receive the earnest and hearty assistance of the "REPUBLICAN"—and the "DAILY NEWS" should the exigencies of the political situation require its co-operation. The course of our weekly paper from the beginning of its new management does not in the least indicate that its influence—great or small as it may be—will be directed against the County or State ticket. We have heretofore announced our intention to support, to the full strength of our ability, the choice of the State and County conventions and we will do so no matter how the present contest for State Delegates may terminate. We quite naturally desire and expect the election of Captain Williams and Captain Gowland, because, as have before stated, they stand for the principles we endorse. If, however, the will of the majority of the Republicans of Centre County favors the election of Miller and Dunwiddie our interest in the matter ceases; we will gracefully submit to the inevitable and lend our best efforts toward the success of the Republican ticket in November. Judge Love and his coterie of assistants have no substantial ground for their assertions that we are Republican bolters and contemplate an attack, openly or covertly, on the County ticket. Our Republicanism is as firmly established and has been as loyally demonstrated as that of His Honor or any of his followers. Republican tickets, National, State and County, have always received our loyal support, and our financial assistance to the extent of our ability to give it. Not content with misrepresenting the "REPUBLICAN" before the people these leaders of the opposition are circulating broadcast the report that Governor Hastings defeated the county ticket last fall and the fall preceding. This also is a misstatement of fact, a fabrication cut from the whole cloth. In neither campaign mentioned was General Hastings in the county, nor was he connected in any way whatever with the local political struggle. In the fall of '96, the first campaign alluded to, General Hastings was engaged by the Republican National Committee, to deliver speeches in the principal cities of New York, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Indiana and Pennsylvania in the interest of the National and respective State tickets, arriving at Bellefonte on the eve of election day. In the fall of '98, the second campaign in which he is charged to have worked the defeat of our county ticket, the General, at the urgent request of various State chairmen, stumped the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, reaching home on the morning of the election. In neither of the above referred to compaigns did General Hastings take an active part in county politics, other than to subscribe to the county campaign fund in his usual liberal and unstinted manner. In each instance he advised the County Chairman to collect what funds he could to defray the legitimate expenses of the campaign and he—Hastings—would make up the balance needed to square all accounts. The Chairman acted in accordance with the General's suggestion and the General satisfied his portion of the agreement upon notification from the chairman of the amount required from him. The doubtful can verify this statement from the books in the custody of the County chairman. In every campaign, since his entry into political activity, General Hastings has been a zealous and an aggressive worker for the Republican party, an earnest and loyal adherent of its principles and doctrines and the most generous and liberal financial supporter of our county tickets to be found in the Republican party in Centre County. His subscriptions to campaign funds were always made without a murmur and at no time has he failed to pay promptly to the County Chairman the full amount of his obligation and in not a few instances the sum of his contributions exceeded the amount of his subscriptions. In this connection it might be appropriate to remark that in the hands of a former County Chairman there is a campaign subscription book in which appears a modest sum set opposite the name of Judge Love which still remains unpaid. We are prone to believe that among those who are attacking the Republicanism of General Hastings and accusing him with the defeat of the County ticket in recent years, there are a few who could not risk a microscopic inspection of their political records. General Hastings favors the election of Williams and Gowland for State Delegates. To be sure he does. Why not? He assured them of his support when they requested it. He believes them entitled to the honor they are ambitious to attain. They are Republicans and personal friends, and, therefore have a just claim upon him, as a Republican, for his influence and assistance. Respecting the county ticket he has no preference. He is pledged to no candidate. He stands ready to give to the choice of the County Convention his best and most earnest support. He has been a Republican, is a Republican and will be a Republican. All statements from all sources, to the contrary not-with-standing.

The Political Situation Truthfully Stated.

The unfortunate political situation in this county has been entirely precipitated by Judge Love. And it is the purpose of this article to state the incontrovertible facts in the history of the contest.

1 At the suggestion of many of the veteran soldiers and other Republicans of the county Captain Samuel H. Williams of Bellefonte and Captain John Gowland of Philipsburg became candidates for Delegates to the State Convention. More than a month after they were in the field Judge Love brought out two personal enemies of General Hastings, as candidates against Williams and Gowland.

The latters' friends came to Gen Hastings and asked him if he would support these old soldiers and loyal Republicans. General Hastings told them that he had intended not to take any hand in local politics. That he had been highly honored by his party and that he had expected to spend the remainder of his life as a private citizen among his friends and neighbors in Centre County but that Williams and Gowland, men of the highest character, heroes of the old war and unswerving Republicans, were entitled to the cordial and unanimous support of the party and should have his as well.

2 No sooner had he announced his cordial approval of their candidacy than Judge Love raised the issue by bringing out Miller and Dunwiddie in opposition to Williams and Gowland. Thus Judge Love forced the issue and is the author and instigator of the factional contest now being waged.

3 Judge Love abandoned his judicial duties, opened a politics headquarters and up to date has issued two abusive and scurrilous circulars, had them printed at a Democratic newspaper office and employed clerks working day and night to mail them to the Republican voters of the county. He spends his time from morning till night at his political headquarters. He has been sending for leading Republicans all over the county to come to see him and in suppliant appeals urges them to humiliate Hastings by the defeat of these two old soldiers Williams and Gowland. In addition he is promising right and left, and we hear to several voters of the same townships to appointments of census enumerators when he knows, and every intelligent citizen knows, that such appointments will be subjected to a through civil service examination and will be made upon merit only. Everybody in the county, whether an applicant for judicial favor, or not, is, we understand from all quarters being either appealed to or threatened. This is the plain statement of the attitude of the President Judge of the Courts of Centre County in the present political contest, a contest entirely of his own making.

4 On the other hand General Hastings is now a private citizen, he is not a candidate for office, he has always been most friendly to Judge Love. He has frequently done him acts of kindness and substantial service. No one has ever heard General Hastings say an unkind or disrespectful word of Judge Love. Hastings has shown, since his return to private life, a generous and kindly disposition to assist his neighbors with a liberal hand, not only personally, but in his efforts to aid in building up the material interests of the county. The only crime he has committed in the eyes of Judge Love is his friendly support of the two old soldiers above named.

5 Hastings is no candidate for office, he is not seeking anything. That he made a record as Governor which is an honor to himself and Centre County and the state is admitted on all hands, and the best proof of it is, that no newspaper of the state, Democratic or Republican, has had ought but the most respectful and approving words for his official conduct while Governor, of the Commonwealth. In fact the only paper in Pennsylvania that has made any attack upon General Hastings is an insignificent weekly sheet lately started in State College Borough which, at the direct request and bargain of Judge Love and his little coterie, was filled last week with personal abuse and falsehood against him. Thus Judge Love is sending his circulars broadcast and has secured the aid of an unknown paper and editor to blackin the character of Hastings, his friend and neighbor, whose only crime is his loyalty to his friends and his support of the two old veterans for a merely honorary office.

6 Judge Love accuses General Hastings of attacking him in this paper and says in his circular that Hastings is the Editor and Proprietor of it. This is not true. The Proprietor and Editor of this paper is Wilbur F. Harris whose name appears at the head of this page. He leased the paper, controls it and is responsible for its utterances. General Hastings is no more accountable for its published articles than is Judge Love. The Judge may search through the files of the REPUBLICAN in every issue since we took charge of the paper and he will not find a discourteous or disrespectful word either against him or his court. We have advised him strongly to keep out of politics and not trail the judicial ermine in, its slimy pools. And we believe he will yet live to realize that it was the best advise one friend could give to another in like circumstances. We harbor no personal feelings against him. We only differ in political views, that is all. We believe that Judge Love has been overpersuaded or influenced by elements outside of Centre County and is following a political will-o'-the-wisp over a path-way where he feels it his duty and to his interest to trample upon a good friend, traduce an honored neighbor and assail the private character of a useful citizen.

Table Etiquette.

Hints on table etiquette may possibly be considered superfluous yet from observation it is quite evident that a great many people both old and young need advice on this subject.

Always remove gloves when eating at the table, They are never kept on even during the most formal dinner.

The table napkin should be opened and placed across the lap—never tucked in at the collar.

Only small helpings of soup are given. It should be taken noiselessly from the side of the spoon. The plate should never be tilted.

Use only the fork for eating rissoles, omelets and dishes of minced or small cut meat.

A knife is only used for those viands which require cutting.

Will Insist on Use of Safety Lamps.

Wilkes Barre, Pa., July 8.—It now looks as though the strike of the 1,700 employes of the Lehigh Valley Coal company would be short lived. A committee of the striking miners waited on General Superintendent Lathrop this morning to ascertain if some compromise could not be agreed upon. Superintendent Lathrop said the company would insist on the use of safety lamps and and that there could be no compromise on that point. The committee reported the result of their visit to a meeting of the successors and many of the latter signified their intention of returning to work tomorrow.

May Not Accept It.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Nathan C. Schaeffer has not yet accepted the position of principal of the Kutztown state normal school, tendered him Friday last. From statements made by close friends of Dr. Scheaffer, his acceptance is very doubtful. The term of the state office he now holds will not expire for two years, and if he should be relieved at that time his friends say he would have no difficulty in getting a more lucrative position than that offered at Kutztown. Dr. Schaeffer is on a visit to California.

THEY ALL SAY SO.

Not Only in Bellefonte But in Every City and Town in the Union.

If the reader took the time and trouble to ask his fellow residents of Bellefonte the simple question given below he would obtain the one answer. If he would read the statements now being published in Bellefonte which refer to this answer, it would surprise him to note that they number so many. As many more could be, and may be published, but in the meantime ask the first person you meet what cures backache? The answer will be, Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a citizen who endorses our claims:

Mr. Geo. Cox, residing on what is known as Half Moon Hill, says:- "I can conscientiously recommend Doan's Kidney Pills judging from what they did for me. I suffered intensely from pains in my back and lameness across my kidneys. Statements in this paper about Doan's Kidney Pills attracted my attention and I called on F. Potts Green, the druggist and got a box. They did me a great deal of good although I did not take them as regularly as I should, for the moment the pain ceased and I felt better I stopped taking them. They gave me the greatest relief and I can give them the credit for saving me much suffering."

PE-RU-NA'S VICTORY.

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, O.

DEAR SIR: — I feel like a new woman since using your Pe-ru-na.

Your medicine has helped me so much that I can work and never feel tired out. When I first began to use your medicine I couldn't sweep my own room, run the sewing machine or lift anything, not even a chair. It even hurt me to ride or walk any distance. Now I can do all this, and I believe more, and never feel the effects of it. I feel so proud of the way it has brought me out that I tell it far and near. I can heartily recommend your medicine to any woman suffering from female disease. I know from experience that your medicine will do just what you say it will. I thank you, Doctor, a thousand times for your treatment. I shall recommend your medicine wherever I go. I know what it has done for me and I know it will do the same for others. I feel that there are thousands of other women who would, after using your treatment, as I did, be thankful. I am so glad I got your treatment. This month is the first time in my life that I can remember of having my menses without pain. Why, I can't do anything but recommend Pe-ru-na.—Miss Emma L. Bolden, Wilberforce, O.

The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O., will mail Dr. Hartman's special book for women, free on application, to women only. All druggists sell Pe-ru-na.

Girl in Solid Gold.

The Colorado Paris exposition commission has made a contract with F. D. Higbee, representative of one of the large statue casting firms of the country, for a solid gold statue for exhibition at the Paris exposition. The design represents an up-to-date girl, the figure of life size being cast in solid gold, 18 karats fine, the cast with its base being six feet four inches in height. It is estimated that $1,000,000 worth of gold will be used.

The pedestal is to be of copper and pure silver, standing five feet eight inches high, three feet square at the top and six feet four inches at the base. Upon four panels in bas-relief it is intended to show representative Colorado scenes, probably pictures of Cripple Creek, Leadville, Pike's Peak and the San Juan country and other historical points, all wrought in pure silver. On the base will be four panels, on which will be representations of the scenic attractions of the railroads of the state.

In some artistic manner it is proposed to show the annual and total output of the precious metal of the state and names of leading mines of the state In connection with this principal feature of the exhibits the commission expects to make a creditable scientific and commercial showing for the state.

All the metals of which the statue and its base are to be constructed will be the production of the Colorado mines.

Bellefonte Lady Bitten by a Kissing Bug.

Mrs. Stella Bowes, of Bellefonte who is visiting at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Chesman, of Mill Hall, had an unpleasant experience Monday night the result of having been bitten on the lip by what is supposed to have been a kissing bug. Mrs. Bowes was in a street car when she felt something bite her on the lip. Her lip commenced to swell at once and for a time her throat was paralyzed so that the lady was unable to speak. After a few hours the swelling began to leave and this morning her lip had assumed its normal condition. Mrs. Bowes does not know what bit her. It may have been a mosquito or a spider, but the symptoms were exactly like those that have resulted when hundreds of other people have been bitten by the kissing bug so that there is little doubt of the Bellefonte lady having been a victim of the bug that is causing so much distress in this country.—Lock Haven Express.

—The editor of a country paper interviewed the inhabitants of his town recently, and he finds that nearly all the successful business men were freely thrashed while they were young, while among the street loafers 27 were "mamma's boys."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 10th, 1899.

President McKinley has too much confidence in America and English common sense to share the fears expressed in some quarters, that the failure to agree on a boundary line between Alaska and Canada, which seems likely to result from Canada's attempt to play the grab game, will result in any break of the pleasant relations between the U. S. and Great Britain. He realizes that the failure to agree will be the cause of considerable irritation, and possibly of some disturbances in the disputed territory, but does not believe that it will dangerously involve the two governments.

The President is devoting much of his time to the selection of officers for the volunteer regiment, and hopes to complete the list this week. Gov. Roosevelt spent a day and night in Washington, upon the President's invitation, for the purpose of giving his advice in regard to the appointment of some of these officers. The present expectation is that the new regiments will all be in service by Aug. 15, as the recruiting, which was started today will be rapidly pushed in all sections.

Secretary Alger says every one of the alleged interviews with him while he was in New York several days ago, were fakes. He was not interviewed at all while there.

The latest gossip concerning the candidacy of John R. McLean, of Washington and Cincinnati, for the Ohio democratic gubernatorial nomination, which is now being openly pushed by Mr McLean himself says that McLean has no idea of being elected governor of Ohio, but wishes to use the State Democratic Machine and the prominence that may be acquired as a candidate to help him in his fight to prevent Bryan getting the Presidential nomination again. It was first said that Mr. McLean was after second place on the Bryan ticket, but it now seems that his principal desire is that there shall be no Bryan ticket. Incidentally he will let it be known to all the democratic strikers that he is willing to put several of his millions in circulation to boost a McLean ticket. It is said that he has never forgiven Mr. Bryan for objecting to his being given second place on the ticket in 96, and that he is determined to get even if possible.

Ex-Congressman Geo. R. Davis, of Ills., has not been in politics actively for some time, but he keeps a close watch on things in his state and is regarded as an authority. Of the political outlook he said: "We elect a governor in 1900, and being a Presidential year, the republican party will have a great advantage, seeing that the state ticket will almost surely carry with the success of the National ticket. The two will go together. There is scarcely a doubt of the continuance of Illinois in the republican column."

Ex-Senator Brown and Hon. Jesse Smith, of Utah, are in Washington trying to secure official permission for the people of northeastern Utah to pasture their sheep on the Uinta reservation, embracing 875 000 acres, which was set apart as a forestry reservation under the last Cleveland administration. Mr. Brown said on the subject: "People wonder at crime in the western country, and yet these immense reservations, covering thousands of acres, are left as regular hiding places for cutthroats and outlaws of every character. These reservations, and especially those in the far West, have practically no police protection, and it can be readily seen that if the government would permit their use, for pasturing our sheep, this would give the reservation protection that it would not otherwise get." Speaking of politics Mr. Brown said that Bryanism was rapidly dying in the West and predicted that President McKinley would receive the electoral votes of Utah and Colorado.

There is neither surprise nor alarm in official circles on account of the few cases of yellow fever among our troops in Cuba. Surgeon-General Sternberg, of the army, said: "We have anticipated yellow fever among the troops and prepared for it, and never expected to get through the occupation of the island without some cases of the disease. Maj. Gen. Brooke understands the situation. He has as his chief surgeon a competent officer, and anything called for by him will be immediately sent. That there may be plenty of surgeons available, additional immune surgeons have been ordered to report to Dr. O' Reilly."

Col. Henderson received a warm welcome from his numerous Washington friends, during his stay of several days in the city. Neither his successful Speakership campaign, nor the shoving up, by newspaper writers, of his military title to "General" which seems to have been at once accepted by the public in general—Hon. Thos. J. Henderson, who represented the seventh Illinois district in the House from the 44th to the 53rd Congress, was breveted Brigadier General in the Civil War, but Hon. D. B. Henderson never got higher in rank than Col. of the 46th Iowa Infantry—has made the slightest change in him. He greeted all his friends, from President McKinley down to the humblest private citizen, in the same wholesouled way that has made him one of the most popular men who ever sat in Congress, and which probably also made him sure of becoming Speaker of the House.

Saved His Father's Life.

William Ryder was terribly trampled by a bull on his farm, near Brookville, Tioga county Thursday morning. The animal rushed at Ryder, knocking him down and attempted to gore him. A 10 year old son of Mr. Ryder saw the bull attack his father and hurried to the rescue, armed with a pitchfork. When the boy prodded the fierce animal it turned on him. Mr. Ryder quickly rolled out of the barn and shut the door, thus preventing the bull from pursuing him. The boy escaped by climbing hastily up a ladder to the hay mow.

Would-Be Assassin Arrested.

Semlin, Austria, July 8.—The fireman who attempted to assassinate former King Milan is a Bosnian named Gjura Knezevic. He had accomplices. During his flight Knezevic endeavored to shoot himself and when he failed he jumped into the river Save, which joins the Danube at Belgrade, but he was dragged out by the police. Fourteen members of the former radical central committee, including ex-Premier Tauchanovics, have been arrested on suspicion of being connected with the affair. Another ex-premier, Pasics, has been placed under police supervision.

It's Worth Remembering.

An exchange says: Raising the left arm as high as you can will relieve choking much more rapidly than being thumped on the back. Very frequently at meal time and when they are at play children get choked while eating and the customary manner of relieving them is to slap them sharply on the back. The effect of this is to set the obstruction free, so that it can be swallowed. The same thing can be brought about by raising the left hand of the child as high as possible and the relief comes much more rapidly.

They Thought They Knew.

The lesson was from the "Prodigal Son," and the Sunday school teacher was dwelling on the character of the elder brother. "But amidst all the rejoicing," he said, "there was one to whom the preparation of the feast brought no joy, to whom the prodigal's return gave no pleasure, but only bitterness; one who did not approve of the feast being held, and who had no wish to attend it. Now, can any of you tell me who this was?"

There was a breathless silence, followed by a vigorous cracking of thumbs, and then from a dozen sympathetic little geniuses came the chorus, "Please, sir, it was the fatted calf."—Louisville Evening Post.

THE CENTRE OF POPULATION.

Where it Has Been, and Where the Next Census May Show It to Be.

By the first national census taken in 1790, says the New York Sun when the population of the country was not much greater than of New York city to day, the centre of population was twenty three miles east of Baltimore. It was still in the neighborhood of Baltimore, though to the west of that city, in 1800. In 1810 it was near Washington. In 1820 it was at Woodstock, Va., and in 1830, 1840 and 1850 in the present State of West Virginia. In 1860 it was a little to the south of Chilicothe, O., this being the first official appearance of Ohio as the centre of population, though it has remained the political centre of population steadily ever since.

In 1870 the centre of population was on a line in Ohio between Chilicothe and Cincinnati; in 1880 it was in the neighborhood of Cincinnati, and in 1890 the year of the last national census, it was in Decatur county, Ind., near the Ohio boundary, and on a line between Cincinnati and Indianapolis. The Government estimate of the present population of the United States, exclusive of countries over which its soyereignty has been extended, was 75,000,000 on June 1, and all sections of the country, have participated, though not equally, in the growth of population since 1890, when it was 62,600,000.

By the coming census the Ohio and Mississippi Valley States will probably be shown to have gained less from direct foreign immigration than in any previous decade, while the citizens of the Middle and New England States have, relatively gained more. There has been a substantial increase in population, larger, probably than in any period since the close of the Civil War, in the Southern and South border States, and a much larger increase in those of the Southwest, most notably in Texas, the total vote of which increased from 230,000 in 1880 to 340,000 in 1890 and 550,000 in 1896. The population of Texas (2,200,000 in 1890) is probably near 3,600,000.

A State census taken of Kansas in 1895, on the other hand, showed the population of that State to be less than in 1890, while in the period the population of New Jersey had increased 16 per cent. Between 1890 and 1895 the population of Florida increased from 390,000 to 465,000, while the population of South Dakota (328,000 in 1890) was returned as 330,000 five years later.

The growth of population in American States between 1890 and 1900 will be in accordance with the increase of the urban population in each rather than with the gain in agricultural districts. As a majority of the cities are in the North, it appears likely that the "centre of population" in 1900 will be on or near the backs of the Wabash in the State of Indiana, at some point northwesterly from the present centre and nearer the Illinois than the Ohio State line.

DRAWING A CARTOON AGAINST TIME.

In an article upon Mr. Harry Furniss, in the Magazine of Art for July, Mr. Spielmann tells the following story of the well known caricaturist: "When Lord Randolph Churchill's hunting adventures in South Africa were entertaining London and drawing attention to the Daily Graphic, which was employing him as special correspondent Mr. Furniss, who was about to take train for town from some country station read an account of the exploit in question in the morning paper, and telegraphed to his editor Mr. Burnand: 'See Churchill's lion hunt, Times. Splendid copy. Reply—Junction.' At half past 10 he found the answer from his chief awaiting him: 'Good. Let engravers have it today.' He made the drawing in the train used the changing at the junction to draw in the faces and at the appointed time he placed the finished drawing in the hands of the engravers."

Is At Last Broken.

The ten cent endless chain is broken. The other day was the first day since May 18, 1898 that Miss Nathalie Schenck, of Babylon, L. I., has not received from one to over 1,200 letters, each inclosing ten cents to buy ice for sick and wounded soldiers. Miss Schenck wrote four letters to friends asking them each to send ten cents to her and each to write to four friends asking them to send ten cents to the fund and to write to four others to do likewise. This was the beginning of the chain.

After it had been growing for two months, and had resulted in the receipt by Miss Schenck of over 10,000 letters, efforts were made to break it, but it was impossible.

Every cent received, over $25,000 has been turned over to the Red Cross society for its ice plant auxiliary.

All the expenses have been paid by selling the addresses of the letter writers to publication houses.

A Barberry Hedge

The front porch of the Loyd farmhouse faced the east. Therefore, at three o'clock on a Sunday afternoon in July, it lay in the cool shadow of the great white house. Seated among the gray cushions of the hammock was Patty Loyd, the only child and the heiress of the broad acres. Patty was a pretty dimpled blonde of twenty. In a soft, white lawn, with her chestnut hair curling away from her low brow, she made a charming picture.

The other occupant of the porch was John Manchester, the son of Richard Manchester, whose well-tilled fields joined Loyd farm. He was tall, stalwart and dark, while his thoughtful face betokened a mind alert and cultured.

The air was heavy with the scent of the heliotrope growing on a flower-stand at John's right. The beds of geraniums and nasturtiums made glowing bits of color on the velvety green sward. In the branches of a great apple-tree a mother robin chirped drowsily to her brood. All was peaceful and free from discord.

But there was a serpent even in Eden. As Seth Loyd, the father of Patty, came strolling around the house, coatless and his face flushed with the heat, he bore little resemblance to the traditional tempter of our common mother. Still his entrance upon the scene was almost as fatal to peace and harmony.

Mr. Loyd sat down upon the steps fanning himself with hia straw hat.

"Hew! Hot weather this John."

"Yet, it's good for corn," John replied, affably. He did not particularly enjoy the society of Mr. Loyd, but he was Patty's father.

"Yes, but somehow it don't seem to bring on that air piece of yourn over there," pointing off to the north where a corn-field belonging to the Manchesters was in sight. "Poor lay for crop, that. What ails it? You progressive farmers don't seem to have very good crops after all your talk."

The hot blood colored John's cheeks. Mr. Loyd was always sneering at his and his father's farming. Perhaps it would be as well to speak out concerning the corn. In the young man's vexation he forgot that this disagreeable neighbor was the father of the pretty girl opposite.

"Oh," he said, defiantly, "that's plain enough. As long as that hedge of yours stands there we can't expect much of crops in the field next to it. Your own suffer some, but the wind favors you."

"Eh, what's that? What do you mean?" and the old man sat bolt upright and glared at John. It must be your college learnin' has gone to your head."

This thrust did not quiet John His attendance upon the state Agricultural College had before been ridiculed by Mr. Loyd.

"I don't think it has. It may have opened my eyes to the cause of what you are pleased to call our failures.

You may not know, sir, that research has proven that the pollen of the barberry-bush is hurtful to many growing things. Professor Lutz touched on the subject while I was at college, and I have this summer corresponded with him about this very hedge. He assures me that it is a damage to my father's farm, and could be so proved in court. Botanists claim that this variety of the barberry, the Berberidacae vulgaris, is——"

Here a strange noise interrupted him. It was a cross between a snort and a growl. Only astonishment had kept Seth Loyd quiet [illegible] His wrath would, however, restore his power of speech. He sprang to his feet with remarkable agility considering his sixty-five years.

"You fool!" he shouted. You blamed idiot! You never had any more brains than your father, and that air schoolin' has spiled 'em. It is a lie, every word of it."

John, too, arose. Before he could speak Patty's soft voice recalled him to himself.

"Oh, papa, how can you, and on Sunday, too! He don't mean it, John I know he don't."

John hesitated. Yes, it was—well, injudicious to say the least, to anger Patty's father. He bit his lips and turned half apologetically to the old man, but the mischief was done.

"You keep still, miss," to Patty. "As for you, young man, you walk. Don't you never put foot on my farm again. Hedge hurt your corn! That hedge has always been an eyesore to your father. I'll defend it, you scoundrel Yes, sir, defend it with the last cent of my money and the last drop of my blood."

It was useless to attempt to reason with him. His rage increased. John was obliged to obey him and depart. He humbly asked Patty's pardon and received assurance of her continued friendship, even while her father was ordering him never to speak to her again. John strode out of the gate and down the road, and Patty, her blue eyes overflowing with tears, took refuge in her own room.

Seth Loyd strode into the cool quaint, old-fashioned sitting-room where his wife was indulging in her Sunday afternoon nap. Mrs. Loyd was a meek little woman, who always managed to fan the flame of her husband's anger by her ill-timed efforts to extinguish it. When his story was told, she said, tearfully:

"Oh, Seth, I jest wouldn't. Like as not, the *M*anchesters will go to law and how it would sound for folks to say you was arrested."

This only made matters worse. Mr. Loyd brought his hands together with a resounding slap, and shouted:

"I wish they'd try it. I'll show Dick *M*anchester who's got the most money, him or me!"

"Oh, father, don't talk so," and *M*rs. Loyd wiped a tear from her cheek. "I 'most know Patty likes John, and I wouldn't have our girl's heart hurt for all the hedges in the country."

This remark was the one thing needed to raise the passion of Seth Loyd to white heat. Notwithstanding his long trusteeship in the little church near by, he swore, with an awful oath, that Patty should have nothing to do with the *M*anchesters

As for John, he also acted unwisely. He went straight home, and finding his father lying under a great walnut trees which shaded the lawn, he told him the whole story.

Richard Manchester was a much younger man than his neighbor John was an only child, and as the boy had been motherless since his birth, there was little his father had denied him. But as he listened, the face of the elder man grew hard and stern. This was not the first trouble between Seth Loyd and himself. Manchester's more progressive ways of farming had always been ridiculed by the old man, and more especially had this been the case in the last few years since these very ways had begun to bring in large returns. The hedge had already been a source of dispute, as it took the place of a line fence, and had, when small, often been passed over and trodden on by Manchester's cattle.

"I think I've stood enough from Seth Loyd," Mr. Manchester, senior said. firmly. "I believe I'll test the matter of the hedge in the courts, although I am opposed, on general principles, to lawing. You kept Professor Lutz's letter, didn't you, John?"

"Yes, sir, but——"

"But what?" the father asked, impatiently. "I hope [illegible]

"I don't think I am afraid," John answered, smiling a little. But there's Patty."

"Patty? Oh, yes, I see. Well, John, I'll go a little slow for your sake, but Seth Loyd will never overlook what happened to-day."

Time proved the truth of Richard *M*anchester's words. Seth Loyd let no opportunity of annoying his neighbor go unimproved. Several times hot words passed beween the two men.

John and Patty met at church and in various social ways. There was little chance for conversation, and John determined to see the girl alone and come to a definite understanding with her. Fortune soon favored him.

One sunny afternoon he was drilling wheat. As he turned his team he caught a glimpse of a trim little figure in dark blue strolling leisurely along the road only a few rods from him.

John tied his horse to a convenient tree, hurried across the field, leaped over the fence, and stood leaning against the trunk of a beech when Patty approached.

She started, but the look of joy in her eyes did not escape John's notice.

"Come, Patty, and sit down here," he said, imperatively. "I must talk to you, and there's no telling when I can see you again."

Patty obeyed unquestioningly, and he took his place at her side. The sunlight peered down at them through the screen of silver-green, leaves, bringing out glints of brightness in *P*atty's hair, and in the goldenrod in her lap, and a squirrel paused to eye them curiously; but they heeded none of these. There once more, the story of love was told, the story each retelling of which is the crown of some life.

"Yes, I love you, *J*ohn," Patty said, her cheeks aglow, "but papa will never, never consent, and I dare not oppose him.

They talked for a long time. John wished to go straight to Seth Loyd and tell him of the engagement, but Patty would not consent.

"We must wait," she said. "Any more trouble would break mamma's heart. I don't know how it will come out, but, John, I will always be true to you,

With this John was obliged to be content. Patty bade him a tearful farewell and went on her way. He sighed as he went back across the field. Surely it was hard that two young lives should be overshadowed by—yes, by a barberry hedge. John smiled and threw back his shoulders proudly. He would wait patiently for a time, but in the end Patty should be his wife.

The autumn wore away, and still the trouble about the hedge increased. Mr. Loyd was planning to set another barberry hedge between his farm and Manchester's. When Richand Manchester learned this he consulted a lawyer, and the trouble was farther from a peaceful settlement than ever.

On a frosty morning late in November Mr. Loyd started for the cornfield, which lay at the extreme back part of his large farm. He was not feeling well, so he hitched a horse to his cart and drove back along the lane until he reached the field where the huskers were busy Hitching the horse to the fence, he went forward to inspect the work.

When Seth Loyd drove back along the lane he was in a bad humor. There was no use in closing his eyes to the fact—his farm was not doing as well as when he was able to personally give it his attention.

"Everything is going to ruin," he muttered, shivering as the raw wind smote his face. "If I jest had a son Not but Patty's a girl any man might be proud of, but a boy would look after things for me. There, I believe the top's blowed plumb off of that stack of clover seed. I told Collins it wasn't right, but you never see a hired man you can tell anything these days."

He drove his horses through the open gate and across the field in the direction of the stack. The young horse threw up her head impatiently at being turned aside from her way to the barn.

This field was the one separated from [illegible] by the disputed hedge. Seth Loyd glanced complacently at the neatly trimmed shrubs.

"Looks pretty well in spite of Dick Manchester's grumbling. I'll show him—hey, there, Topsy! Whoa Whoa, I say!"

A flock of his own turkeys had taken refuge under the barberry hedge. The patriarch of the flock, a huge bronze gobbler advanced in front of the horse, his wings spread and his shrill voice raised.

Topsy shied. The angry voice of her master and the jerk of the lines added to her excitement. A moment later she was running wildly across the field, with Seth Loyd vainly pulling at the reins and shouting for help.

The old man was sorely frightened. Directly at the foot of the hill which Topsy was descending at breakneck speed was a narrow gully in which stones and refuse had been thrown .There the cart would be overturned. Certain death awaited him unless the horse was stopped.

She was stopped A man leaped over the hedge, strong hands caught Topsy's bits, and John Manchester's voice bade Mr. Loyd dismount.

He did so catching his foot and falling headlong. By the time he had regained his feet the men who had been working in the field with John had reached the spot. One of these held the horse by the head, the rest were gathered about a figure which lay prone upon the ground.

"Eh, what's the matter?" Mr. Loyd asked, making his way forward.

"That brute of a horse has about killed John," one of the men said.

"His arm is broken besides that hurt on his head, and I don't know what else."

John Manchester opened his eyes, and supported by one of his companions, struggled to a sitting posture. Although suffering severe pain, he smiled faintly when he met the gaze of Seth Loyd.

"Hope you'll excuse my trespassing," he said, in a hoarse voice. "I really forgot under the excitement of the moment that you had forbidden my coming on your premises."

The words died away on his lips, and he sank back, pale and speechless. Seth Loyd's wrinkled face worked piteously as he turned to the group of men.

"He hain't dead, is he? Cause if he is, 'twas me and the barberry hedge that killed him."

It was late the next morning when John Manchester woke from a troubled sleep. The doctor had pronounced his injuries serious, but not dangerous. Some one was sitting close by his bed, and he slowly turned his aching head to see who it was.

"How are you feeling, dear?" and Patty bent over the pillow.

"You here, *P*atty! Oh, my darling what does it means?"

"Hush, you are not to talk. *P*apa sent me here to help take care of you. It's all right, John. He, he said," and the blushing face dropped low, "that you must get well enough for a wedding on Christmas. That isn't all. See, John," and she darted to the window and raised the shade.

The barberry hedge was in plain sight. John saw the teams and hired men of Mr. Loyd hard at work pulling up the shrubs by the roots.

"Papa said to tell you and your father that the barberry hedge and the trouble it made were things of the past," Patty said, slipping her soft hand into that of her lover.

EMERALDS FROM EGYPT

An English syndicate has obtained from the Egyptian government the right to mine for precious stones on the coast of the Red sea for the next five years and the syndicate expects to make a great deal of money, for the country is famous for its emeralds.

In Cleopatra's day the emerald was a royal stone and her jewels were world famous. It was her custom to give foreign ambassadors her portrait cut on a large emerald. Egypt has been described as the country of fair emeralds. Two mining centres are best known—those of Sikali and those of Jebel Abbara.

Besides emeralds, semi-precious stones, such as beryl, are found, but there are no diamonds, rubies and sapphires—the formation of the soil and rocks is not favorable to them.

As the emeralds now come in the [illegible] light blue and dull and pale, but that is because some of them have been lying in the hot Egyptian sun for a thousand years or so and have been faded. Skillful treatment, however, at the hands of the jewlers restores the beautiful green fire.

—The shipments of coal over the Bald Eagle valley railroad are very heavy just now, from 350 to 420 loaded cars daily. What Poor Roads Cost Farmers.

If ever there were two classes of people that had a good cause in common they are the bicyclists and the farmers. The question on which their interests agree is that of the need of good roads; for, while a hard smooth surface is an absolute necessity for wheelmen, it is of even more vital importance to the farmer seeing that the condition of the roads makes a serious difference one way or the other in his yearly profits As the result of an inquiry made in 1895 by the United States department of agriculture, replies were received from over 1,000 counties giving the cost of hauling crops in various parts of the United States The average load hauled was found to be 2,002 pounds; the average length of haul, 12 1-10 miles; the average cost of hauling a ton of crops to market was $3.02; while the average cost of hauling a ton for a distance of one mile was 25 cents.

In order to compare the roads of the United States with those of Europe, the bureau through its consuls made careful inquiry on the subject of cost of hauling in England, France, Germany, Belgium, Italy and Switzerland. The average cost of hauling one ton one mile was found to be in England 10 cents, in France 10 cents in Germany 8½ cents, in Belgium 9½ cents, in Italy 7½ cents and in Switzerland from 6 to 8 cents, the average for all these European states being 8 6-10 cents per ton per mile. More than one cause may enter into the determination of cost, but that the great cost in America is due to our poorly made dirt roads is proven by the fact that while over the superb roads of Europe a farmer will haul three or four tons at a load, our farmers are able to haul only a ton or less than a ton over the "plow and scraper" ridge of soil which even at this late day is dignified by the name of road in many parts of the country.—Scientific American.

A teacher in a public school is often the recipient as well as the imparter of knowledge. Some of the small folk under her tuition occasionally astonish her with their superor knowledge of the modernly developed resources of the English language.

A lecturer on hygiene had been included in the program for the day and she had taken care to show the effects of alcohol and tobacco upon the system. She impressed her teachings by means of anatomical charts, which gave especial lucidity to her remarks when she came to warning the little girls, years in advance of any practical need of the dangers of tight lacing.

One of the little girls whose home surroundings are of the sort in which ease rather than elegance of expression is sought, listened with profound respect,

"Now, Margaret," the teacher said, "you may see how well you remember what I have said about tight lacing and tell us why it is injurious.

There was no response.

"I mean you, Maggie," the teacher added, and the girl jumped to her feet as she recognized the more familiar name.

"Tight lacing, ma'am, is injurious, ma'am—"

She hesitated, and the teacher smiled encouragingly, and said, "Go on."

"'Cos, ma'am, it's liable to twist your slats."

An Exciting Runaway.

An exciting runaway occurred Fourth of July evening about 9 o'clock. Mr. A. M. Mott with his wife and two children were on their way home from Milesburg, where they had spent the day with Mrs. Motts parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fullmer, and when near the residence of Thos A. Shoemaker, the horse became frightened at an engine which was blowing off steam on the Central Railroad tracks and ran away.

Mrs. Mott and one of the children sprang out one side of the buggy and Mr. Mott jumped out the other side still holding to the lines. Mr. Motts little boy remained in the buggy. The horse was so badly frightened for Mr Mott to hold and succeeded in getting away dashing madly up the pike with the little boy clinging tightly to the seat.

The father followed the buggy as fast as he could expecting nothing else but that the child would be killed. Imagine his gratification and surprise to find when he reached town that the mad career of the horse had been stopped at the Methodist church and that the child was safe and sound.

In attempting to hold on to the lines after jumping from the buggy, Mr. Mott was thrown down and one of his legs was badly cut and bruised.

Only Thirty and Gray

How is this?

Perhaps sleepless nights caused it, or grief, or sickness, or perhaps it was care.

No matter what the cause, you cannot wish to look old at thirty.

Gray hair is starved hair.

The hair bulbs have been deprived of proper food or proper nerve force.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Used according to directions, gray hair begins to show color in a few days. Soon it has all the softness and richness of youth and the color of early life returns.

Would you like our book on the Hair? We will gladly send it to you.

Write us!

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the Vigor, write the doctor about it. He may be able to suggest something of value to you. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Death of W. O. Green.

William O. Green son of Tobias and Rebecca Green, of Milesburg, died at Mercy Hospital Pittsburg on Monday morning July 3rd at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Green by advice of his physicians went to the hospital May 11 to be treated for appendicitis. It was declared by the doctors that an operation was required which was performed on the 13th, two days after he was admitted. The result of the first operation was not satisfactory and a second and third was made finally resulting in death from blood poisoning at the date above recorded. His sufferings through all these trials are said to have been intense. At time of death he was 30 years 6 months and 15 days; a faithful member of the M. E. church and died with full faith in the hope of a blessed immortality beyond the grave in the land of the hereafter.

He was married about eight years ago to Miss Lilly Miller, of Milesburg, who preceded him to the grave four years ago. He leaves two children a girl and boy aged 6 and 4 years respectively. His father, mother, two brothers and two sisters survive him. The remains were brought to Milesburg, Tuesday morning, the funeral took place Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment at Curtin's cemetery.

His Honor, Judge Love, has come down off the bench long enough to issue two circulars against General Hastings. To one of them the Judge signs his own name. General Hastings is not a candidate for any office and there ought to be room enough in Bellefonte to let him live here as long as he remains a good law abiding citizen.

Fie, fie, judge, don't allow your personal ill feeling towards the General to put you in the position of a common scold against a private citizen. If General Hastings should ever run for office again, of course you would be at liberty to oppose him as you did before.

Gov. Roosevelt may be headstrong at times, but he should be credited with being wise enough to decline being used as an obstruction on the track of the McKinley renomination express.

A GREAT CONVENTION.

That of the Christian Endeavorers in the City of Detroit.

GREAT CROWDS IN ATTENDANCE

In Tent Endeavor 10,000 People Assembled Wednesday Evening to Hear the Exercises Which Were Interesting Throughout.

TELEGRAM FROM THE PRESIDENT

DETROIT, July 6.—In the Christian Endeavor convention Wednesday night a full list of presidents, one from each state, territory and Canadian province, was elected as members of the board of trustees. The Pennsylvania representative is Rev. Clarence D. Eberman.

The afternoon of the preliminary day of the eighteenth annual international convention of Christian Endeavor was showery, but toward evening the sun broke through the clouds and travel from all parts of the city to the Christian Endeavor grounds began. At sundown long wavering lines of young people from various directions wended across the green fields about the white tented city, all converging toward Tent Endeavor, beneath whose broad, spreading canvass the welcoming rally was held. The crowds poured in through the four entrances on either side and down the six broad sawdust half covered aisles, until the great tent's capacity of 10,000 was filled, after that, a crowd of outsiders obtained sight and hearing through dropping the tent walls at either side. The Christian red and white was suspended in hundreds of broad streamers from the lofty roof to the eaves. Flags of all nations, drapped with the stars and stripes hung overhead at intervals. The coats of arms of the states were attached to the tent poles. The Christian Endeavor monogram shone from large red and white electric globes over the resonator suspended above the speakers' platform. Higher up the union jack and stars and stripes intermingled. A thousand white capped young men and maids composed the choir on the big stage.

Devotional exercises were led by the Rev. Butler, of Washington, the welcome of local committee was extended by William H. Strong, chairman.

There was enthusiastic applause when Secretary Baer read the following telegram from the president of the United States:

Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, Detroit, Mich.: On the occasion of the eighteenth international convention of your society I desire to express my cordial interest in your work, my best wishes to those assembled with you in convention and my earnest hope for the continuance of the great results which efforts of the Christian Endeavor society have achieved.

[Signed] WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

Next on the programme came responses in behalf of Endeavorers from foreign lands. As Rev. William Patterson, of Toronto, came forward to speak for Canada, some one struck up "God Save the Queen." The Canadians on the platform took up the strain and in a moment the huge tent was reverberating with the swelling chorus of the British anthem. The friendly relations between Canada and the United states, particularly with reference to religious matters, formed the burden of Dr. Patterson's address.

Rev. Dr. H. J. Tressider, secretary of the London council of Christian Endeavor, answered the greetings in behalf of Great Britain.

For Australia response was made by Rev. Joseph Walker, of Queensland; for China, by Rev. Ellwood C. Tewksonry, a missionary in the vicinity of Pekin; for Turkey, by Rev. L. S. Crawford, for many years a missionary in that country; for Japan, by Rev. Otis Carr; for Mexico, by Rev. C. Scott Williams, and for the United States, by Rev. Arthur J. Smith, of Georgia.

This closed the first day of what promises to be one of the most notable gatherings in the history of the organization.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50cts., guaranteed at F. Potts Green's Drug Store.

Of Interest to Farmers.

Here is something from an exchange that many farmers should read and profit thereby: "It has been decided by the courts that if a bicycle rider falls or sustains injuries on account of a dog barking or snapping at him, that the owner of the animal is responsible for damages. In a recent case the cyclist obtained $500 damages by reason of being thrown from a wheel on account of a vicious dog attacking him."

Killed a Customer.

DuBois, Pa., July 6.—Ezekiel Hewitt, aged 50 years, was killed by J. C. Harmon, at Penfield, a village twelve miles east of here, Monday evening. Harmon keeps a general store at Penfield. Hewitt entered the store and wanted to know why goods he had ordered in the morning had not been delivered. Harmon replied that he had not had time but would attend to the order at once. Hewitt became angry and abusive. Harmon endeavored to put him out of the store and a fight ensued. It ended by Hewitt falling to the floor dead. An examination showed cuts over the left temple and right eye. It is alleged that Harmon struck him with a weight from the store scales. Hewitt's body was removed to the Penfield hotel where an investigation was held. Harmon was arrested by Constable Hoover. Both men are prominent citizens and business men. Hewitt has seven sons, one of them Earl Hewitt, being on State College foot ball and base ball teams this year. Harmon has kept store at Penfield many years. He has a wife and family.

Two Department Clerks Must Go.

The clearing out of clerks and other attaches of the previous State Administration goes on at Harrisburg. Edward Rankin, a brother of Mrs. Hastings, who is a clerk in the Insurance Department, has been given notice that his place will be given to another on the 1st of August. Senator Grady is also to have a place for one of his constituents. Robert S. Godfrey, a deputy factory inspector, will drop out for the Grady selection. Captain M. N. Baker, of Erie, another deputy inspector, was notified to quit recently, but when Major I. B. Brown and a few others heard of it they rallied to Baker's support, and he was reinstated, on the ground of his service during the war. Senator Gibson wanted his place.

SIX HUNDRED LIVES IN PERIL

Wreckers Derailed Crowded Train, But it Did Not Upset.

An awful attempt at train wrecking was made on the Fall Brook Railroad, at Blackwells, last Monday night. It was the purpose of the wreckers to derail an excursion train from Williamsport, returning from Watkin's Glen with 600 passengers abroad.

A bolt was fastened in a frog at a point where the tracks run close to the banks of Pine creek When the engine drawing the excursion train struck this frog it left the tracks, but luckily the speed of the train was slow and the quick application of the air brakes prevented it from going over the high embankment.

The train was due at Williamsport at 11 o'clock Monday night. Wild rumors of the wreck were circulated on the streets, and the Fall Brook depot was besieged with friends of passengers on the excursion train, awaiting its arrival. The train reached that city Tuesday morning, the passengers having spent the night in the cars in the mountains.

Snow Shoe Man Missing.

Michael Merrick has been missing from his home at Snow Shoe since last week. As he has been subject to severe attacks which either bewildered or rendered him unconscious, his wife fears that he has perished. Wednesday a hundred men were scouring the mountains for Merrick's body, but we have been unable to learn the result of their search.

Brooke's Successor.

Havana, July 1.—La Lucha published a dispatch from Washington yesterday which says:

"It is practically assured that Gen. Brooke will be sent to the Philippines commend, with an increased army, and that he will be succeeded here by a civi governor of Cuba, who will probably be Mr. Robert P. Porter."

Headquarters has received no intimation of any such arrangement, if it be contemplated, but the dispatch has caused considerable comment. The English edition of the paper will say editorially tomorrow:

"While Gen. Brooke has done as well as, and probably better than, most military men would have done in the same position, and while he has at all times evinced a desire to secure justice and has succeeded in winning the confidence of our people on all sides, it is nevertheless a fact that army life does not fit a man to assume a civil role, especially in such trying circumstances as exist here. A civilian governor of Cuba is needed. Mr. Robert P. Porter, however, is believed to be prejudiced against the Cubans. They have no confidence in him and will protest against such an appointment, as is indicated in our Washington dispatch, if the news should be confirmed. Cuba wants as governor an American civilian of known ability, a statesman of undoubted integrity and impartiality."

Some interesting relics of Lord Nelson and Napoleon I were sold in London recently. A pair of shoe buckles with gold borders, and a left hand glove worn by Nelson fetched 26 guineas and 28 guineas. A portrait of Napoleon, in miniature by Isabey, brought 20 guineas, and a walking stick used by him at St. Helena, bearing a deep silver band with inscriptions, formerly the property of George Augustus Sala, 8 guineas.

A Bellefonte Boy Among the Yankees.

Bellefonte boys whether they stay at home or roam abroad, possess such qualities of enterprise and excellence as leads to advancement and distinction. We copy the following from a Rhode Island paper "The Westerly Herald" which chronicles the success of a former Bellefonter and a former employe of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN who had wandered away to the land of Rodger Williams.

The Bossners were well known in this city and the boys are all good steady fellows who we feel certain will never do anything to cause us to be ashamed to claim them. The Herald says:

Wm. F. Bossner, who has gathered a wide circle of friends in Westerly during the past three months has resigned his position as reporter on the Herald, to accept a lucrative position in the train dispatchers office of the Consolidated railroad at Providence. The Publishers of the Herald wish him all success possible in his new field, and feel that his ability, activity and untiring zeal in that which he is interested in, will eventually place him in a position such as he could not hope to reach on a small city newspaper. Mr. Bossner possesses all the characteristics which make for success and has a bright future before him.

Judge Love has prepared in circular form and issued throughout the mails to the Republicans of the County, extracts from the excellent address made by General Hastings, nominating Senator Quay for the Presidency, some three years ago. In 1896 Gen. Hastings was unanimously elected a delegate at large to the National Republican Convention, by the Pennsylvania Republican State Convention. He was also unanimously elected Chairman of the Pennsylvania Delegation and by a practically unanimous vote was requested to place Senator Quay in nomination for the Presidency. The General accordingly made the best speech he could for the Pennsylvania candidate, and we think he did it up pretty well, considering.

That was before Quay's Legislature of 1897 sought to debauch the State, and before it became known that the late State Treasurer tied up for an indefinite period Six Hundred Thousand Dollars of the people's money in order that son Richard, might buy a street railway in New Castle. But why should the Judge on the bench take so much interest in Hastings as to publish one of the latter's best forensic efforts. General Hastings also made a very good speech in the National Convention of 1888 nominating John Sherman for the Presidency, and we have no doubt he would be pleased if Judge Love while he is at it, would send copies of that speech, among the neighbors in Centre County.

The Ledger Monthly for July has a patriotic cover design of great beauty, entitled "Old and Young Glory" showing a little girl holding the national ensign in her arms, and wearing the cap of the Goddess of Liberty, the little figure with sparkling eyes encircled in the folds of the "Red, White and Blue." The frontispiece is entitled "A Patriot's Vision," and shows a veteran watching his grandson's Fourth of July sport, while on the flag, floating above him, is a representation of one of the famous battles of the American Revolution. The July number has a special article on Women's Clubs, by Mary Fielding Kalor, which is likely to excite a good deal of discussion. The price of the Ledger Monthly is only 5 cents a copy, 50 cents a year. Robert Bonner's Sons Publishers, Ledger Building; New York.

In Mexico the yellow fever is not considered contagious; consequently the disease doesn't create such a panic as it does over here, when it happens to get a footing.

Gov. Pingree also puts the blame upon the reporter who interviews him, when the sentiments in cold type do not gee with his second thoughts. Poor reporters.

It is now in order for somebody to tell what good was accomplished by the cyclist who is alleged to have ridden a mile in 2 1-5 seconds less than a minute.

Although the average "bucket shop" promptly fails when the stock market makes big profits for its customers, there is no diminution in the number of "suckers" who think they can make a living, if they don't get rich, playing the stock market.

WHAT is the secret of Judge Love's issuing a series of circulars and sending them through the mails, attacking General Hastings?

The General is surely not attacking him in any way. Hastings was so good a friend of the Judge that when the latter was a candidate for the judicial position, he presented him with One Thousand Dollars, to be used as the Judge might elect in the furtherance of his campaign, and we have no doubt that the Judge used the money in a legitimate way, and think it was a great benefit to him. That was a pretty big favor for one man to do for another, and we have no doubt that the Judge fully appreciated the kindness.

We suspect that the reason the Judge has issued the circulars referred to, attacking Hastings, is because the latter is supporting Captain Williams and Captain Gowland for Delegates to the State Convention. Williams and Gowland were long in the field as candidates, before his Honor, Judge Love, precipitated a factional fight by bringing out Miller and Dunwiddie. Hastings is not responsible for the candidacy of Williams and Gowland. They became candidates at the request of the veteran soldiers and other Republicans of the County. No factional fight would have been percipitated against them if Judge Love had kept out. We are sorry that he is making such a bitter fight against these two old veterans. A Judge on the bench, placed there by Republican votes ought not to endanger the entire Republican party, because he does not feel kindly to so amiable a private citizen as Hastings is.

A Thousand Tongues.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at F. Potts Green's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

The Undine Picnic.

The Undine picnic at Hecla Park on the Fourth proved a most successful affair in every particular. In spite of the attraction at Lock Haven there was large crowd at the Park and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

The day was taken up with base ball, bicycle racing, dancing and other sports.

Two races were run under the direction of Will Runkle. They were a one mile race and a ½ mile race. Both were won by John Teats, of Bellefonte. The second prize in the one mile race was won by Frank Woomer, while in the ½ mile race Charles Larimer took second prize.

In the base ball contest Mackeyville defeated Bellefonte by the score of 7 to 6, in a well played game.

The days enjoyment closed with a splendid display of fireworks in the evening. The firemen report that they cleared over $350.00 by the days picnic.

The committee in charge were W. T. Royer, chairman; John Houser, John Morgan, Joe Cushing and William Runkle.

—The trout season will end on Saturday next.

—Some of the young people of our town enjoyed a hurdy gurdy dance at the armory Saturday evening.

—The crusher at the stone quarry at Salona, which had suspended operations for several days, resumed running Wednesday.

—The congregation and Sunday school of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Lock Haven will picnic at Hecla Park this Friday, July 14th.

—The Aid Society of the Bellefonte Evangelical church will hold a festival, in the basement of the church, on the 14th and 15th of July 1899.

—A household necessity. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Heals burns, cuts, wounds of any sort; cures sore throat, croup, catarrh, asthma; never fails.

—Mr. George Sundy has resigned his position in the tailor shop of W. H. Derstine and accepted one as book-keeper in the coal office of R. B. Taylor.

—Years of suffering relieved in a night. Itching piles yield at once to the curative properties of Doan's Ointment. Never fails. At any drug store, 50 cents.

—Dr. R. G. H. Hayes is the proud possessor of a new Buffalo pneumatic-tired road wagon, which he purchased through L. C. Bullock, of Milesburg. It is one of the nattiest turn-outs in town.

—"I owe my whole life to Burdock Blood Bitters. Scrofulous sores covered my body I seemed beyond cure. B. B. B. has made me a perfectly well woman." Mrs. Charles Hutton, Berville, Mich.

—Hon. J. Howard Morrison, counsel for John M. Dale, receiver of the defunct Pennsylvania Building and Loan Association of Altoona, says: "After having looked the situation over I can say that the stockholders will be lucky if they get 20 per cent. of their holdings."

—For forty years Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been curing summer complaint, dysentery, diarrhoea, bloody flux, pain in the stomach, and it has never yet failed to do everything claimed for it.

—Invitations to the wedding of Dr. Thomas Campbell Van Fries, of Bellefonte and Miss Ellen Sidney Oliver of Graysville have been issued among the relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon July 20th.

—A freight train coming down the mountain from Snow SLoe Friday afternoon was wrecked on the switch back track above Glen Harris. The air brakes would not work with the result that the engine and two cars went over a steep embankment. Luckily no one was injured.

—The Bellefonte Central Railroad Company have secured the right of way from Mr. Samuel T. Gray to run a branch road from the Mattern branch of the main line to the Greysdale Ore bank. Work on the new line will begin at once with employment for forty men. Here is an opportunity for work. Those at present out of employment who desire occupation should call and see Superintendent Thomas of the Bellefonte Central Railroad.

—The sidewalk in front of the Y. M. C. A. building on North Allegheny street is a disgrace to the thoroughfare of which it is a part and it is high time that something is done to enforce the repair of this unsightly and dangerous pavement. There are others in town in a similar condition—perhaps not so bad—and a crusade against property owners whose sidewalks are in an neglected state and unsafe condition would be a popular movement in the right direction.

—The Standard Scale Company have arranged for the removal of their offices to the old stone building north of the Empire Furnace plant and directly opposite the Scale Works, used for some time past by the Scale company as a ware house. Necessary repairs will be made to transform the structure into comfortable and cozy quarters and in the near future the Company's officers will be provided with a suite of apartments suitable to their requirements and worthy of the progressiveness of the industry they manage and direct.

—Dog days began Tuesday. This season we believe lasts six weeks, is regarded by many persons as more unhealthy than that which immediately precedes or succeeds it, and as being a time when mankind are more liable to attacks from disease through exposure or imprudence in their general habits than any other. If there is no foundation in fact for the belief it is a superstition of long standing. There are even those now who would not for a single moment be regarded as at all superstitious, who look upon the dog days as exercising bad influence upon everything. The heat while the dog days last, is usually more sultry and oppresive than any other in the summer. Then, too, meats and vegetables are supposed to be in more danger of spoiling from the effects of the weather than at any other time. Be this as it may, we will now enter upon the dog days, and it would be well for us to be careful in our diet and manner of living.

WILLIAM WALLACE HAYS.

One of Our oldest and Most Respected Citizens Suddenly Passes Away.

William Wallace Hays, one of Bellefontes oldest native citizens, and a most highly respected and honored christian gentleman, died very suddenly early Sunday morning at the home of his son-in-law, J. W. Gephart, on East Linn street.

Death at any time is a sad thing but when it comes suddenly while the loved one is in his usual health it is indeed a sad shock to the bereaved ones who are left behind and they certainly deserve the sympathy of the whole community in their sad affliction.

Although Mr. Hays' health had not been of the best for some time past yet his death at this time was entirely unexpected. He was noticeable about our streets Saturday evening greeting his friends and neighbors in his usual genial manner and on retiring at night he was apparently as well as ever. Sunday morning his daughter, Mrs. Gephart called him several times and on receiving no answer she went to his room about 9:30 o'clock and she at once discovered that something was wrong. She called Dr. Harris who was about to leave the house having been in attendance on another member of the family, who on making an examination discovered that Mr. Hays' had been dead for several hours having peacefully slept away. His death was pronounced by the doctor to be due to heart failure.

William Wallace Hays was born in Bellefonte June 7th 1821 and was aged 78 years 1 month and 2 days at time of death. He was the son of Robert Hays one of the towns earliest settlers who came to Bellefonte in the year 1814. After receiving his education he was the first to introduce the business of tanning into Centre county. He remained in business here until 1855 afterwards being engaged in business in Shamokin, Danville and Springfield, Ill. In the fall of 1870 he was appointed to a lucrative clerkship in the Pension office at Washington D. C., remaining in that position for twenty-five years finally resigning in June 1895 owing to ill health. Ever since that time he has been a citizen of Bellefonte, making his home with his son-in-law J. W. Gephart.

Mr. Hays devoted a great deal of his time to the study of old coins and was considered an authority on the same having written a book on the subject. He had one of the finest and most valuable collection of coins in the United States. His collection of 1794 cents was well known among collectors. He also possessed a fine collection of old china, autographs, stamps and fractional currency.

One daughter, Mrs. J. W. Gephart, of this place, and one brother, Alfred H. Hays of Ashton, Mo., survive him.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence of his son-in-law, J. Wesley Gephart, on East Linn street. There was a very large attendance of sorrowing friends and relatives who gathered to pay this last tribute of respect to the deceased.

The services were conducted by Rev. Wm. Laurie assisted by Rev. H. C. Hollaway.

The honorary pall-bearers were Col. George Bayard, James Harris, W. S. Tripple, Henry P. Harris, W. W. Montgomery, all of Bellefonte and Geoge Cadwallader, of Sunbury.

The carriers were Wm. P. Humes, Dr. R. G. H. Hayes, Frank McCoy, Isaac Mitchell, Harry Keller and L. T. Munson.

Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

At the Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Bellefonte is becoming noted for its 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon meetings for young men. Bright speakers, excellent singing and the spirit of God manifested in the hearts of those present is drawing bigger crowds to these meetings every Sunday.

The meeting last Sunday afternoon was none the less interesting than its predecessors and was led by John Keichline, Jr., who gave an excellent talk, brimfull of good thoughts for his hearers. There were over fifty people in attendance in spite of the fact that the meeting had not been very well advertised.

Another special feature of this meeting was the singing of Mr. Fred Atcheson, of Pittsburg, who has a beautiful baritone voice which he handles to the best of advantage.

United in Marriage.

Wednesday June 28th at high noon, Mr. Robert Clarence Daley, of Romola, and Miss Anna R. Candy, of Johnsonburg, were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage at Johnsonburg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Jelbart the Methodist minister at that place. The wedding was a very quiet one, none but the interested parties being present. Mr. and Mrs. Daley are now spending their honeymoon at the home of Mr. Daley's parents at Romola. This paper extends its heartiest congratulations to the happy couple.

—The other day four persons from Snow Shoe were placed in jail charged with elopement, two single men and two married women. Their names are Aliki Andus, Charles Pinlick, Sophia Kowas and Rosa Nagg.

WEDDING BELLS

The beautiful Presbyterian church of Bellefonte was the scene Wednesday of a very pretty wedding ceremony which united for life two of our town's most popular young people.

The happy parties to this life's contract were Prof. James R. Hughes, son of Rev. James P. Hughes and Miss Mary Green, daughter of F. Potts Green.

There were no invitations issued to the church but all the friends were expected, and the large edifice was well filled when the ceremony took place. The wedding was a quiet one owing to recent bereavement in the brides family.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers, potted plants and palms and presented a magnificent appearance.

Promptly at 11:30 o'clock the bridal party entered the church from the north vestibule to the music of the Lohengrin wedding march as played by Miss Winifred Newbaker.

First came the ushers Messrs. J. Harris Green, a brother of the bride; Chas. S. Hughes, of Baltimore, Md., a brother of the groom; J. Malcolm Laurie, Hardman P. Harris, Harris B. Heylman and Jay R. Woodcock, all of Bellefonte.

Then came the maid of honor, Miss Emma Green, a sister of the bride, charming and pretty in a becoming costume of green and carrying a bouquet of pink roses. Lastly the bride looking very lovely attired in a handsome traveling dress of light brown carrying in her hand a bouquet of white roses and leaning on the arm of her father.

They were met at the altar by the groom accompanied by his best man, Mr. G. Tarleton Goldthwaite, of New York City, a graduate of Harvard Class of '91.

The beautiful ring ceremony of the Presbyterian church was used, the ceremony being conducted by Rev. Wm. Laurie, D. D., assisted by Rev. James P. Hughes, father of the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the residence of the bride's father, Mr. F. Potts Green, on East Linn street, where an enjoyable wedding breakfast was served, and a reception held for the near relatives of the families.

The bride is the daughter of F. Potts Green, and is a pretty and accomplished young lady, well and favorably known to the people of our town.

The groom graduated from Princeton College in the class of '85 with honors and is now assistant principal of the Bellefonte Academy, which institution owes much of its success to the indefatigable efforts of this young man.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes departed on an afternoon train for Cape May, N. J., where they will spend most of the summer. This paper joins with the many friends in wishing them a happy voyage on the sea of matrimony and in the words of Rip Van Winkle "May they live long and prosper."

What We Eat

Dr Wiley, chief chemist of the United States department of agriculture, in his testimony before the Sentorial Pure Food Investigating committee, recently in session in Chicago, declared that fully ninety per cent. of food and drink articles made and used in this country are frauds. This includes all dairy products, nearly all condiments, and food stuffs in widest household use, even coffee in the berry being adulterated. From milk the fats are abstracted, and even what is left is watered, small amounts of preservatives being added to prevent souring. Lard is adulterated by mixing in vegetable fats, and for expensive oils cottonseed oil is substituted. These adulterations, and also others, are often not injurious; a costly article is simply replaced by one less costly, to the business advantage of the dealer. Fully 70 per cent. of the beer used in this country, said the witness, is not made of malt.

Subscription Dance.

The devotees of social pleasures in Bellefonte are happy with the prospect of a series of subscription dances to be given in the Armory during the summer months. The first event of the series will occur on the evening of the 28th inst. The music to be furnished by the Chappel orchestra of Williamsport. Invitations will be issued to the society folks of neighboring cities and towns and a large and representative gathering of dance-loving people is assured, as Bellefonte assemblies are always drawing cards and never fail to be highly successful in every particular. The gentlemen composing the committee of the Subscription Series are Messrs. Henry C. Quigley, Harry Keller, Hard P. Harris, Edmund Blanchard, Fred Blanchard, Edward Hoy, Wallace Reeder and Richard Lane.

David Hampton and Alice Stiver, both of Benner township.

Harry Elmer Smith and Mary Anna Simpson both of Philipsburg.

—The fact that there are fewer idle men in Bellefonte today than was the case some weeks ago is quite observable. This is certainly a pleasing condition to note. There is still work for idle hands. Those who enjoy good health and physical strength and are unemployed have little or no excuse to offer for their indolence.

—The new houses erected by Mr. James Harris on North Spring Street, on the lot adjoining his residence add considerably to the attractiveness of the street upon which they are located. The new houses are neat and pretty and modern in every arrangement. They will be occupied by Mrs. Jane Welsh and Mrs George Elliott.

Staff Officers of the Fifth Regiment Named.

In compliance with the act of assembly recently passed and the new military law, the names of the following persons have been forwarded to the adjutant general of the Second brigade, National Guard of Pennsylvania, for the approval of the brigade commander for the positions designated: To be captain and chaplain of the Fifth regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, Rev. Samuel Blair; to be first lieutenant and battalion adjutant, Willis E. Mackey, Esq.; to be first lieutenant and regimental commissary, William P. Beardsley. If these appointments are made and approved by the commanding general of the Second brigade the staff officers of the Fifth regiment will all be filled with the exception of one assistant surgeon.

Mr. Mackey and Mr. Beardsley have both seen service in the National Guard, both having served as enlisted men and both having filled the position of regimental clerk.

Sea Shore Excursion.

The Central R. R. of Pa., in connection with the Reading Co's., "Royal Route" will run three seashore excursions from Bellefonte and local points as follows: July 20th, August 3rd and 17th. Fare for the round trip $5.75, tickets to be good for return within 10 days including date of sale. Passengers will be allowed to stop off in Philadelphia returning within the limit. Excursion train will leave Bellefonte at 7:10 A. M., running through to Philadelphia without delay at Mill Hall or Williamsport. j12 4.

Have Anthrax Poisoning.

Mathias Fitzwater and son, of Lake Breeze, near Canton, Pa., are suffering with anthrax poisoning. Four of Fitzwater's cows died with anthrax and two are now sick. In helping to skin the dead animals the disease was transmitted to the two men through wounds produced by scratches from briars. The state veterinary department has taken charge and has quarantined the farm.

Don't Sit in Drafts.

A word of caution about sitting in drafts may not be amiss at this season. It seems like a nice thing when one is covered with perspiration, to sit where cooling breezes blow, and it is—for the undertaker. About nine tenths of all cases of pneumonia in summer time comes from this wretched habit.

—Jacob Edinger, of Luthersburg, near Dubois, went to the barn Sunday to attend to his horse, when he fell dead from appolexy. He was 58 years old.

—Lycoming Prohibitionists, on Saturday next will nominate a complete county ticket and elect delegates to the State convention of July 21.

—Blair county sportsmen will establish a game preserve of 5,000 acres at the Beaver Dams on the border line of Blair and Huntingdon counties. It is proposed to stock the preserve with deer, partridges, pheasants and game fish.

—Capitalists are preparing to invest money in the extensive development of the fire clay beds in Clinton county, which are said to be very valuable, and Lock Haven citizens are looking forward to the day when their city will be a big manufacturing centre. The fire bricks made in Clinton county have a wide reputation for excellence.

—Darius Cupp, while plowing in a field of the John Friday farm in Snyder township, near Tyrone the other day, unearthed a rare coin. It is an English shilling of 1775 date, once worth 12½ cents in American money, but now on account of rarity considerably more valuable. The coin, though one hundred and twenty-four years old, and likely nearly a century under ground, was bright as if newly minted. The finder's father, John Cupp, of Tyrone, is the possessor of the relic, and has already refused an offer of $10 for it.

—Prothonotary Mitchell I. Gardner purchased on Tuesday from Mr. William P. Humes the lot and building thereon formerly occupied by the Borough Council and Logan Fire Co., and the lot and double house adjoining, the west end of which is at present occupied by Mrs. Jane Welsh. We understand Mr. Gardner will make extensive repairs and equip the building with modern improvements and will extend the depth of each lot fifty feet taking for this purpose the rear part of his Spring street property.
